Introduction

So, what are our West Point Connections? Well, for starters, I was born there. So that is as good a place to start as any. I was born during the war; so, technically not a "boomer". My father Alton Donnell, USMA '40, had deployed with his squadron of B-29s to the Pacific. My mother Marie was living with her mother and her grandfather Alexander Ross Piper, USMA 1889, in Brooklyn. He had been the President of the Association of Graduates of the military academy in the 1930s and was very familiar with West Point. I'm sure he recommended the West Point hospital, and my mother and grandmother moved into the Thayer Hotel when my mother was about due to deliver.

But that wasn't the first connection. Nor was it that my mother and father met on a blind date at the military academy. Going back a generation, Alexander Ross Piper married Marie Susan Cozzens, daughter of Sylvanus Thayer Cozzens. He was named after, obviously, Colonel Sylvanus Thayer who was the Superintendent when the first West Point Hotel was built in 1829. The builder? William Brown Cozzens, friend of Sylvanus Thayer, who also managed the hotel for about ten years.

But moving back another generation, Alexander Moore Piper, USMA 1851, was an artillery instructor at the academy for several tours. As detailed later, he twice took the training cannons from West Point south – first, to defend Lincoln's first inaugural; second, to join the fight. After the end of the Civil War, then Colonel Piper married Adelaide Cozzens, daughter of William Brown Cozzens and the aunt of Marie Susan Cozzens. When Marie Susan's mother died young, Adelaide and Alexander raised Marie Susan. Likewise, when Alexander Ross's father James, Alexander Moore's brother, died at the age of 44 because of wounds suffered during the Civil War, they took in Alexander Ross and raised him, too. There was some hint of a scandal when Alexander Ross and Marie Susan, raised as brother and sister, but only cousins by marriage, got married.

This genealogical and historical effort did not start from scratch. More than 100 years ago, my great grandfather Alexander Ross Piper began an effort to put together a "Piper History". On the other side of the family Great Uncle Charles Donnell wrote a Donnell genealogy, published in 1949. A cousin of mine, David Livingston deserves all the credit for his research of the Cozzens family going back to pre-Revolutionary War Rhode Island.

This effort fleshes out what the others have started with a focus on my families that lead back to West Point. Piper, Cozzens, Donnell, and Cunningham, with a couple of other interesting twigs thrown in. The Donnells trace back to the MacDonalds of Glen Coe Scotland and beyond. And they briefly passed through the Piper areas in Pennsylvania on the way to available land in North Carolina. The Cunninghams trace back to Daniel who arrived in the colonies around 1745 or so. He may have been a British loyalist, but that is uncertain.

So why mention the last two families with West Point. Well, I graduated in 1967. I married a Carolyn Cunningham, who is now a naturalized US citizen and rabidly pro-American and pro-West Point. Our son Tyler, USMA 2002, is currently serving as a Colonel in the Army. And our daughter married an Army First Sergeant, recently retired. A true Army family.

And two other lines of my ancestors deserve inclusion because of their West Point connection: Edward Coke Ross, USMA 1821, mathematics instructor and my third great-grandfather and his grandfather-in-law, Chevelier Francis de Berlier, a French artilleryman who fought at the Battle of Yorktown and was wounded multiple times. De Berlier is the father of my fourth great-grandfather Francis Nathanial Berier, USMA 1815.

The Piper, Cozzens, DeBerlier, Ross, Donnell, Cunningham and other lines trace back to well before the American Revolution and well precede the founding of the United States Military Academy in 1802.

I have decided to start with the earliest known ancestors in each line. My intent is to leave as much information for future researchers as possible. For the same reason, I have not edited out some of the obvious redundancies that the software generates.

As much as I would like to say they were all Colonial Revolutionaries or on the Union side, it is more complicated. A few, though not many, were British Loyalists or Confederate supporters. Where I could not find a significant mention, except perhaps by rank, they appear in the body of the document, but not hyperlinked below.

I have decided to, primarily, use a “journal” format. In this format, the known children are preceded by a lowercase roman numeral that is the birth order. If there is a number before that, it is a pointer to a later numbered section of text that further describes the individual. Everyone with a picture is carried forward, despite the usual format that only those with descendants are kept in.

The intent is to capture all in the genealogy who are graduates of the Military Academy and other fighting notables. I have listed some of them below, with links. I had intended to prune branches where there was not an apparent military connection, but that has been more effort and time than I am prepared to give to this revision.

Descendants of John Piper (821)

Generation One

Piper Family Crest

1. John PIPER (821) was born in Ashen, Essex, England.[1]

In 1723, he was granted a Coat of Arms, as documented in Burke's Armory, that applies to all of the descendants of his grandfather:

> "Piper (Ashen co. Essex; granted 23 July, 1723 to John Piper, Esq., of Ashen, son of John Piper, or Cornard Magna, and grandson of John Piper, also of Cornard Magna, co. Suffolk, and to the descendants of his said grandfather; Mary Piper, the heiress, m. Henry Sperling, Esq., of Dynes Hall, co. Essex). Gu. A chev. embattled ar. betw. two falcons belled in chief or, and a dexter gauntlet in base barwise, holding a sword erect all ppr. Crest – A demi griffin reguard. ppr. Supporting an antique shield charged with a gauntlet and sword, as in the arms."

Ashen is a small village 8 miles north-of-west of the historic town of Sudbury and Great Cornard, south of the River Stour, the Essex/Suffolk border.[2]

Known children of John Piper (821) include:

2 i.John PIPER (819) was born circa 1675 in Ashen, Essex, England. He married Lucinda (?) (820) before 1697. He died before 1738.

Generation Two

2. John PIPER (819) was born circa 1675 in Ashen, Essex, England.[1] He married Lucinda (?) (820) before 1697. He died before 1738.

He went to the north of Ireland from England about 1720.[1]

Lucinda (?) (820) was born circa 1677. She was also known as Widow Piper and Janet (820).[3] She emigrated with her son from Ireland to the American colonies before 1735. She purchased what became known as Widow Piper's Tavern before 1736. It became the site of the First Court of General Sessions of the Peace in Cumberland County. Four terms of the court were held there until the court was moved to Carlisle, the newly selected county seat.[4]

The only known child of John Piper (819) and Lucinda (?) (820) was:

3 i.James PIPER (491) was born in 1698 in Kilmore, Down, Ireland. He married Margaret P Cleland (492), daughter of James Cleland (1750) and Margaret James (1751), on 30 July 1723 in Ballywoolen, Ireland. He died in May 1772. He was buried in Newville Cemetery, Newville, Cumberland, Pennsylvania, USA.

Generation Three

3. James PIPER (491) was born in 1698 in Kilmore, Down, Ireland.[5] He married Margaret P Cleland (492), daughter of James Cleland (1750) and Margaret James (1751), on 30 July 1723 in Ballywoolen, Ireland.[6] He died in May 1772. He was buried in Newville Cemetery, Newville, Cumberland, Pennsylvania, USA.[7] His estate was probated on 6 June 1772.[8]

He emigrated circa 1738 to the American colonies from the north of Ireland with his family and his mother, 'Widow' Piper. He settled in what was later called West Pennsboro township. He was a "representative man" and head of a prominent family.[9]

Note that his will was written in 1771 and probated in 1772, making the date on the grave marker unlikely. James gave:

> To his wife Margret [v. the more common spelling Margaret] and daughter Sarah – “a comfortable maintenance during her life and likewise my daughter Sarah if it please God to continue her affliction”.
> Otherwise, sons John, Samuel and James would split the estate equally.
>
> With the qualifications that:
>
> John gets the best horse and 30 Pounds owed to him
>
> Daughter Jane gets 5 Pounds of money
>
> Son William and daughters Elizabeth and Margret get 5 shillings.
> Elizabeth’s son James gets twenty shillings for schooling.

Margaret P CLELAND (492) was born on 28 November 1697 in Kilmore, Down, Ireland. She died in May 1772 at age 74. She died near the same time as her husband James.[10] She was buried in Newville, Cumberland, Pennsylvania, USA.[10] Her headstone is misspelled "Cleeland." She was also known as Margret (492).

The nine known children of James Piper (491) and Margaret P Cleland (492) were as follows:

4 i. Major General John Michael PIPER (344) was born on 30 December 1729 in the North of Ireland. He married Elizabeth Jane Lusk (345), daughter of John Lusk (823) and Esther Whitlow (2901), in 1770 in Shippensburg, Pennsylvania, USA. He died on 31 January 1816 in Bedford, Pennsylvania, USA, at age 86. He was buried at the Piper Cemetery in Cypher, Bedford, Pennsylvania, USA.

ii. Joseph PIPER (2098).

5iii. Lieutenant Colonel James PIPER (1741) was born circa 1735 in the North of Ireland. He married Lucinda Long (1744). He died after 27 August 1776 at a Prisoner of War Ship in Long Island, New York, USA.

7 v. Lieutenant Samuel PIPER (1742) was born in 1739 in Down, Down, Ireland. He married Jane Elder (1753), daughter of Samuel Elder (2480) and Martha (?) (2481). He died in 1822. He was buried at the Newville Cemetery in Newville, Cumberland, Pennsylvania, USA.

vi. Margaret PIPER (1743) was born circa 1740.

vii. Jane PIPER (1745).

8viii. Elizabeth PIPER (1748).

ix. Sarah PIPER (1746).

Generation Four

4. Major General John Michael PIPER (344) was born on 30 December 1729 in the North of Ireland.[9] He married Elizabeth Jane Lusk (345), daughter of John Lusk (823) and Esther Whitlow (2901), in 1770 in Shippensburg, Pennsylvania, USA. He died on 31 January 1816 in Bedford, Pennsylvania, USA, at age 86.[11] He was buried at the Piper Cemetery in Cypher, Bedford, Pennsylvania, USA.[12]

Circa 1738, he emigrated with his family from Ireland and lived for a time at Shippensburg. He was a Lieutenant in the Second Battalion of the Pennsylvania Provisional Regiment during the French and Indian Wars (1754-1763). He had previously been with Colonel Armstrong at the Battle of Kittenany.[13] On 20 June 1763, he was commissioned a lieutenant in the Second Battalion of the Pennsylvania Provincial Regiment after he served conspicuously during the French and Indian War.

He had previously been with Colonel Armstrong at the battle of Kittanning. From the source:

> "Prior to 1771 he moved to Bedford County and settled upon the stream now known as Piper's Run. A log fort was erected at the southern end of Black Oak Ridge, near Piper's house, and at various times during the revolution was occupied by troops sent to protect the settlers.[13]

He was one of the Provincial Justices of Bedford County in 1773. At the outset of the War for Independence he was an outspoken patriot and represented Bedford County in the Provincial Conference held at Carpenter's Hall, Philadelphia which called the first constitutional convention on 18 June 1776.[9]

In July 1776, he commanded the 1st Battalion of Bedford Associators and was in active service. On the 21st of March 1777, he was commissioned Lieutenant of the County, a position he filled for a period of three years, during the most trying period of the war. The Committee of Safety, on 21 October appointed him one of the Commissioners to seize the effects of traitors.[9]

In 1777 (as is supposed from a date upon a brick in the chimney) Piper erected a substantial stone house (known as Fort Piper) of two stories, to which many settlers, at various periods, fled for refuge. John Piper lived there until his death in 1816. Fort Piper was believed to have been burned by arson in 1926.

From 27 November 1779, he represented Bedford County in the Supreme Executive Council. Major General John Michael Piper (344) was a member of the General Assembly from 1785 to 1789 and was opposed to the calling of the Convention of that year to which he was elected a member.[14] On 6 November 1787, his residence in Philadelphia which he occupied while attending the Assembly, was stoned by a mob to show their opposition to the Constitutional Party of which he was a member.[15] Under the Constitution of 1790, of which he was one of the framers, he was commissioned a Justice of the Peace, and on 2 June 1796, one of the Associate Judges of Bedford County.[14] In 1797, Major General John Michael Piper (344) was selected a Presidential Elector.[16] On 25 April 1801, Major General John Michael Piper (344) was commissioned a Major General of the Pennsylvania Militia.[13] On 3 November 1801, Major General John Michael Piper (344) was elected a member of the State Senate from the Huntington, Bedford and Somerset District. He was reelected in 1803.

At the time of his death a local paper gave this testimony:

> "Mr. Piper was firmly attached to the principles of the Revolution, in which he bore his share with great credit as an officer, and the cause of political freedom, which was based on the revolution, found him an undeviating and ardent supporter. ... As a father he was peculiarly affectionate and indulgent, as a friend he was generous and sincere, and as a companion, polite, sociable and cheerful.[17]"

Elizabeth Jane LUSK (345) was born on 2 September 1748 in Cumberland, Pennsylvania, USA.[18] She died on 20 August 1822 in Bedford, Pennsylvania, USA, at age 73.[18] She was buried at the Piper Cemetery in Cypher, Bedford, Pennsylvania, USA.[18] She was also known as Catharine Elizabeth (345).[18]

Prison Ship Martyrs Monument, Brooklyn, New York

5. Lieutenant Colonel James PIPER (1741) was born circa 1735 in the North of Ireland.[19] He married Lucinda Long (1744). He died after 27 August 1776 at a Prisoner of War Ship in Long Island, New York, USA.[19] He was memorialized by the Prison Ship Martyrs Monument in Brooklyn, New York.[20]

He immigrated circa 1750 with his father's family to Northumberland, Pennsylvania, USA.[19] He lived in 1772 in Bedford, Pennsylvania, USA. Two years after the founding of the county, there was an insurrection of the early settlers "west of the mountains." The reason for the insurrection was apparently the government's attempt to control or tax whiskey. This would not be settled for twenty years until President Washington settled the "Whiskey Rebellion" by force.

However, James Piper was elected to fill the position of county commissioner after the first county commissioners declined to act against the insurrectionists. Piper objected when two commissioners claimed seats unlawfully. The result was a split of the county and the creation of Westmorland county. This was known as "Dunmore's War.[21]" He enlisted in the First Rifles, Continental Regiment, Pennsylvania Line, and was commissioned Lieutenant-Colonel, March 13, 1776.

James Piper was commanding the First Battalion of Miles' Pennsylvania Rifle Regiment and was engaged at the battle of Long Island, August 27, 1776.

He was wounded and fell into the hands of the British. The date of his death is not known, as he was one of the victims of the inhuman treatment accorded the prisoners on the British prison ships in New York harbor.

(A detailed description of the battle is included in "The History of Bedford, Somerset and Fulton Counties'.).[19]

Lucinda LONG (1744) was born circa 1736. In 1791, Lucinda Long (1744) lived in Cumberland, Pennsylvania, USA.

The only known child of Lieutenant Colonel James Piper (1741) and Lucinda Long (1744) was:

13i. William PIPER (2908) married Sarah Thompson (2909).

6. Captain William PIPER (1747) was born on 31 October 1735 in Ireland.[22] He married Sarah McDowell (2452), daughter of William McDowell (2461) and Mary Maxwell (2462), on 29 December 1759.[22] He died on 7 January 1798 in Peters Township, Cumberland, Pennsylvania, USA, at age 62.[22]

On 20 July 1763, Captain William Piper (1747) was commissioned a Captain in the Second Battalion, Pennsylvania Regiment and served under Colonel Bouquet in the campaign of 1764, and received for his service in the French and Indian Wars two tracts of land. He moved his family from Shippensburg to the larger tract of land including the mouth of Delaware Run where they built a log house on the site of the current village of Dewart.

In the 1775 account of Rev. Phillip V. Fithian, an Irish missionary, it was called "Warrior Run". The reverend preached at the site of the unfinished Warrior Run meeting house, which was burned by Indians on 28 July 1779.

It is not known how long Captain Piper remained on the farm, but it was believed > ...that they fled with other settlers in the big runaway of June 1778, to escape the fury of the Indians, and his improvements were probably burned, as the savages swept the valley as with the besom of destruction. It is likely that their flight continued until they reached protection among friends at Shippensburg and there remained."

Note: besom is a synonym for broom.[23] He was appointed Collector of the Excise in November 1779.

Sarah MCDOWELL (2452) was born on 30 November 1738.[22] She died on 5 September 1805 at age 66.[22]

The only known child of Captain William Piper (1747) and Sarah McDowell (2452) was:

14i. Margaret PIPER (2453) was born on 3 April 1765 in Franklin, Pennsylvania, USA. She married William Smith (2454), son of (?) William Smith (2463) and Mary Smith (2464), on 2 September 1783. She married James Irwin (2458), son of Archibald Irwin (2465) and Jean McDowell (2466), on 5 December 1787. She died on 20 February 1852 in Mercersburg, Franklin, Pennsylvania, USA, at age 86. She was buried at the Church Hill Graveyard in Mercersburg, Franklin, Pennsylvania, USA.

7. Lieutenant Samuel PIPER (1742) was born in 1739 in Down, Down, Ireland. He married Jane Elder (1753), daughter of Samuel Elder (2480) and Martha (?) (2481). He died in 1822. He was buried at the Newville Cemetery in Newville, Cumberland, Pennsylvania, USA.[24]

He was a Lieutenant of Mooney's New Hampshire Militia Regiment.

Copied from the source:

> "He was a remarkable athlete, and there are numerous traditions concerning his feats of extraordinary agility--one to the effect that he leaped across the open circle, the highest in the dome of the state capital at Harrisburg, a distance of sixteen feet, eighty feet above the floor.[13]"

He represented Bedford County in the Legislature of Pennsylvania several times and served as a Democratic-Republican Congressman from Pennsylvania from 1811 to 1817. He was a Captain of Light Infantry and commanded a regiment of militia in the Pennsylvania 12th Division during the war of 1812-14. Colonel Alexander Moore Piper, c 1865

22. Alexander Moore PIPER (509) was born on 11 May 1828 in Carlisle, Cumberland, Pennsylvania, USA.[56] He married Adelaide Cozzens (508), daughter of William Brown Cozzens (104) and Jane Davidson (107), in November 1870.[57] He died on 22 February 1902 at the Park Avenue Hotel in New York City, New York, USA, at age 73.[58] He was buried on 26 February 1902 in United States Military Academy Cemetery, West Point, Orange, New York, USA, Location XXII, A, 06.

His first school years were spent at Mr. Alfred Armstrong's Academy, and he was for a short time at Dickenson College. His last years were with Captain Alden Partridge's Pennsylvania Military Institute. (Captain Partridge had graduated from the Military Academy in 1806, was the Superintendent of the Military Academy from 1814 to 1816, and was court martialed for refusing to leave when his replacement Colonel Sylvanus Thayer arrived.) While a pupil at this school, he received his appointment to the Military Academy on 1 March 1847 by Representative Alexander Ramsey of Pennsylvania.

Captain Partridge said that he was academically prepared to enter the Second (Junior) class, which was not allowed. He was admitted on 1 July 1847 at the age of 19.[57] On 1 July 1851 Alexander Moore Piper (509) graduated from the United States Military Academy. He was the 1498th graduate. He ranked number five in his class upon graduation and opted for an artillery commission instead of one in the engineers.[59]

He was commissioned a brevet 2nd Lieutenant in the Third U.S, Artillery at Fort Independence, Rhode Island.[57] He was promoted to 2nd Lieutenant on 12 December 1851.[57] In 1852 Alexander Moore Piper (509) served at Fort Adams, Rhode Island, and Fort Snelling, Minnesota. In August 1853, he returned to West Point as Assistant Professor of Geography, History, and Ethics, but he remained only until April 1854 when he went to Fort Monroe, Virginia.[57] In 1854 Alexander Moore Piper (509) was ordered to the far West for frontier duty at Fort Yuma, California; Fort Vancouver, Washington; and Fort Dalles, Oregon also known as The Dalles. His command opened up Oregon and Washington and protected the pioneers by establishing roads and building many block houses.[57] He was promoted to 1st Lieutenant on 31 Jan 1855.

He participated in several expeditions against the Indians. He commanded L Company of the 3rd Artillery as part of Major Edward J. Steptoe's force.[57] After a series of attacks by the Yakimas, Chinooks and Klickitats on settlements in Oregon, Lieutenant Piper was detached to support Lieutenant Philip H. Sheridan and captured a group of Chinooks on Bradford's Island on 27 March 1855. on 27 March 1855.[60] In 1856 and 1857 he was at Fort Walla Walla, Washington and Fort Umpqua, Oregon, and in 1860 went on an expedition to Upper Klamath Lake, Oregon.[57] In October 1860, Piper reported to West Point for another tour of duty as an instructor.

In February of 1861, the War Department directed Lieutenant Charles Griffin (USMA, 1847), the chief artillery instructor at West Point, to organize a battery composed of artillery officers, soldiers, and equipment from the training detachment at the Military Academy. With the approach of Lincoln's inauguration, the battery was ordered to Washington, D.C. to help secure the capital from secessionist elements. Known as the West Point Battery, Piper was among the officers selected to be part of the new unit and accompanied it to the nation's capital in February 1861.[61] On 14 May 1861, he was offered an appointment by the President as Captain in the Eighteenth Infantry but declined and was commissioned Captain in the Third Artillery the same day. He never joined the unit but stayed with the West Point battery in defense of Washington.[57]

He was detached from the battery when General McDowell assigned him as the Acting Assistant Adjutant-General on the staff of Colonel William Tecumseh Sherman's 3rd brigade of the First Division of McDowell's Army. In the Manassas Campaign, he was engaged in action at Blackburn's Ford on 18 July 1861, and at Bull Run on July 21st. Sherman, a former Third Artillery officer, reported on July 25th that "Lieutenants Piper and McQuesin of my personal staff were under fire all day, and carried orders to and fro with as much coolness as on parade".[57] On 11 September 1861 Alexander Moore Piper (509) was ordered to return to West Point as Principal Assistant Professor of Chemistry, Mineralogy, and Geology. On 15 June 1862, he took command of the Light Artillery Battery at West Point and was ordered to the front.[57] He reported to Major General Pope and, at the age of 34, became Chief of Artillery for Pope's Army of Virginia. He earned a promotion to Brevet Major for gallant and meritorious service during the campaign in Northern Virginia on 30 Aug 1862.[57] In September 1862, Alexander Moore Piper (509) was detailed as the Assistant Inspector of Artillery in Washington.[57]

On 7 January 1863, Piper received an appointment as Colonel of the 10th New York Heavy Artillery Volunteers, which was raised and organized from the neighborhood of Sackett's Harbor, New York. This regiment was raised in response to Lincoln's call for 300,000 men on 2 August 1862. He led these raw recruits to the defense of Washington and drilled them into shape, and "out of chaos came order.[57]" On 27 May 1864, his "heavies" took transports for Port Royal on the Rappahannock and were soon part of General Grant's Army at Cold Harbor. Despite the artillery name, they often fought as infantry.

They served credibly in the siege of Petersburg where Piper received a second brevet. The 10th New York later operated in the Shenandoah Valley with Phil Sheridan, Piper's old comrade from the Indian fighting in the Pacific Northwest. Piper commanded the regiment in the Battle of Cedar Creek, October 19, 1864. The 10th was also at the Siege of Richmond and Petersburg at the close of the War. From 23 July 1864 to 10 November 1864, he was Chief of Artillery of the 18th Army Corps. From December 1864 to July 1865, Colonel Piper ended the war as Chief of Artillery of the Middle Military Division.

He mustered out of volunteer service with his regiment at Madison Barracks, New York on 6 July 1865. He was a loved commander, and his "...firm, unswerving discipline made even those whom he punished admire him." The regiment presented him with a "very handsome watch, and he never failed to show with pride this token of appreciation." They also commissioned the portrait by Theodore Gegoux.[57]

Alexander Moore Piper (509) was commissioned into the 4th Artillery and served as Principal Instructor of Artillery Tactics at the Military Academy, 24 July 1865 to 28 August 1872.[57] In 1872, he took a leave of absence from the military, after Adelaide's unsuccessful pregnancy, then returned to active duty. On his return, unsolicited, General Grant offered him a promotion to Major in the Paymaster's Department, but he declined to leave the artillery.

He was promoted to Major on 20 December 1875 while in command of a company at Ft. Hamilton, Brooklyn. He returned to the Military Academy as Principal Instructor of Artillery Tactics from September 1876 to August 1881.[57] Alexander Ross Piper notes in his manuscript "Alexander Piper" that:

> "His ideas of right and wrong and strict obedience to orders were well illustrated during his last tour of duty at the Academy, when Gen. O. O. Howard, the Superintendent of the Academy, issued an order that no soldier should walk on the sidewalk in front of the officer's quarters. Col. Piper promptly took the middle of the roadway and walked there until called upon for an explanation, when he stated that he was a soldier, and proud of it, though he was also an officer. The order was rescinded.[57]"

He was in command of Ft. Trumbull, Connecticut when he was promoted to Lieutenant Colonel, 1st Artillery on 8 November 1882. He was transferred to 3rd Artillery 10 November 1882 and was placed in command of the Artillery Regiment and St. Francis Barracks, Florida, 25 December 1882 to January 1884. He was transferred to 1st Artillery January 1884 for duty at the Presidio of San Francisco, California and was in command of the Artillery Regiment and Presidio of San Francisco, where he was promoted to Colonel, 5th Artillery on 10 August 1887. He then commanded Ft. Hamilton, New York from October 1887 until he retired at his own request on 1 July 1991.[57]

Alexander Moore Piper (509) and Adelaide Cozzens (508) lived in the Park Avenue Hotel, New York City, New York, USA, after he retired. A fire originated in the 71st Regimental Armory across the street and spread to the hotel. He was overcome by smoke and lost his life. She survived the fire.

He married Sarah VanDyke Berier Ross (106), daughter of Lieutenant Edward Coke Ross (349) and Catharine Van Dyke Berier (350), on 6 August 1863 in Fort Hamilton, New York, USA, by the Reverend Currie.[62] He died on 30 October 1876 in Carlisle, Pennsylvania, USA, at age 44. His funeral was held at Captain

Erkuries Beatty's residence.[63] He was buried at the Ashland Cemetery in Carlisle, Cumberland, Pennsylvania, USA.[64]

He was a charter member and Recording Secretary of the Freemont Club, established to support the Union Electoral ticket and oppose James Buchanan. He worked for his brother-in-law, Erkuries Beatty (1190) at the Carlisle Weekly Herald where he was the office foreman.[65]

Piper left civilian life for the Army at the outbreak of the Civil War where he served with his friend Captain Smead, United States Military Academy Class of 1854, who was tasked to recruit and form a voluntary battery of artillery. He received a commission as a lieutenant and went to the field immediately with Smead's battery, which was part of the Artillery Reserve for the Army of the Potomac in the Virginia Peninsular Campaign.

During the Seven Days Battles (June-July 1862) he was severely wounded during the Battle of Mechanicsburg on 28 June 1862. He received a brevet promotion to Captain for gallant and meritorious service during that battle. When Captain Smead was killed in the Second Battle of Bull Run on 30 August 1862, Piper assumed command of the battery.[66,67]

After the end of the Civil War, he was an instructor at the Artillery School in Fort Monroe, Virginia, USA. He was assigned at Columbia, South Carolina, but returned home to Bedford County, where he was "Rusticating.[68]" He was again assigned to the Artillery School at Fort Monroe. After the Civil War, he was the Regimental Adjutant, 5th U.S. Artillery, Fort Wadsworth, Staten Island, New York, USA. He was required to retire on sick leave and returned to Carlisle, Pennsylvania with "a shattered and broken constitution." He came down with pneumonia early in October, which caused his death. Alexander Ross Piper (19), at age 11, rode for the doctor.[66]

Sarah Van Dyke Berier Ross, c1864

Sarah VanDyke Berier ROSS (106) was born on 25 November 1846 in Gambia, Ohio, USA. She died on 31 March 1886 in Cincinnati, Hamilton, Ohio, USA, at age 39. She was buried at the Wesleyan Cemetery in Cincinnati, Ohio, USA. Her husband was seriously ill before his death in October 1876 because of wounds suffered during the Civil War. When he passed, Sarah was seized “with an attack of nervous prostration” for which her physicians prescribed alcoholic stimulants. This resulted in a significant family drama.

The use of alcohol as a treatment led to an "inordinate appetite for strong drink", and subsequently her commitment to the Fort Hamilton Inebriates' Home in June 1878 under order of the Supreme Court of New York. Her uncle Major Francis E. Berier was appointed as her "committee," like a trustee, for "her person and estate."

When admitted to the home she was suffering from delirium tremens. Under the care of the physicians of the home, she rapidly recovered and within a month or so was pronounced cured. However, her uncle Major Berier refused to permit her discharge unless she was recommitted to some Catholic or Protestant institution, usually the "Refuge of Fallen Women". Mr. Willetts, the Superintendent of the Fort Hamilton Inebriates' Home, claimed her uncle wanted to restrain her because "she was volatile and frivolous." Major Berier threatened to send her to an insane asylum. John M. Ross, her brother, wrote to Miss Annie E. Piper (1188), her late husband's sister, of Washington DC, in a letter dated 14 Jan 1879, that: "I fear her mind has been so affected that she is more fit for an insane than an inebriate asylum." Sarah was so frightened that she sent for two physicians to judge her mental condition.

Superintendent Willetts and the home's Resident Physician, Dr. Lewis D. Mason, were both in favor of her release before Christmas 1878. She was given liberty from the Fort Hamilton Inebriates' Home to visit friends she had made at Fort Hamilton, which started the movement to release her.

The court received affidavits from a variety of sources, including Superintendent Willetts and Dr. Mason who pronounced her cured and "possessed of strong will power to abstain from the use of liquor," and from friends who met her frequently at the Warm Springs in Perry County, Pennsylvania in 1876 before her husband's death as to her "gentle and refined behavior". Annie Elder Piper (1188) asserted to the court that Major Berier was unfit to be Sarah's "committee." Sarah asserted to the court that her uncle was under the influence of liquor when he visited her, and was "irritable, abusive, and unjust", that his threats to have her committed to an asylum were "unjust aspersions on her character," and that he intended to keep her in restraint "to keep her from all further enjoyment of life and society." Sarah further asserted that that she had "recovered from her appetite for strong drink," that she was able to abstain and never expected to return to it, and that she was recovered by July 1878.

After the court's decision to release her, Major Berier who had possession of all her property, amounting to $448, and her pension of $24/month, paid the cost of her board and restored all property. (Quotations above are directly taken from the source.).[69]

Alexander Ross Piper, c 1910

33. Alexander Ross PIPER (19) was born on 1 March 1865 in Fort Wadsworth, Staten Island, New York, USA.[82] He was baptized in Church of the Holy Innocents, Highland Falls, Orange, New York, USA. He married Marie Susan Cozzens (56), daughter of Sylvanus Thayer Cozzens (103) and Susan Allen Wilson (356), on 20 June 1890 in Church of the Holy Innocents, Highland Falls, Orange, New York, USA, by the Reverend W. R. Thomas, archdeacon of Orange County.[83] He died on 21 November 1952 at Peppeneghek in South Salem, Westchester, New York, USA, at age 87. He was buried on 24 November 1952 at United States Military Academy Cemetery in West Point, Orange, New York, USA, (Location I, A, 24).[84]

Alexander Ross Piper wrote his own obituary, which was published after his death by the Association of Graduates, United States Military Academy in their magazine "The Assembly". Much of the following comes from the obituary either paraphrased or quoted directly. Some minor edits were made for clarity.[82]

Until 1876, he lived at several Army posts, principally at Fort Hamilton, New York Harbor; Columbia, South Carolina; and Fort Monroe, Virginia.[82] After his father's death in 1876, he lived with his uncle Alexander Piper (509) (Colonel, 5th U.S. Artillery) and Aunt Addie (508), and with his cousin (by marriage) and future wife Marie Susan Cozzens (56) at West Point, New York. Beginning in 1881, he lived with his uncle William Kirkpatrick Piper (1158) at Carlisle, Pennsylvania, USA, where he went to public school and worked in his uncle's stationary shop until he received his appointment to the Military Academy.

He received his nomination to the Military Academy in 1885 from Congressman Singiser of Idaho which was not admitted to the Union until 1890 when it became the 43rd state. David Livingston unraveled the mystery by discovering that his nomination came from Theodore Frelinghuysen Singiser (1845-1907) who was the Representative of the Territory of Idaho in the 48th U. S. Congress, 1883-1885. Singiser was born in Cumberland County and served in the Pennsylvania military during the Civil War. From there he may have known the Piper family and was willing to forward the nomination to the Secretary of War and the President.[85]

Alexander Ross Piper (19) graduated from the United States Military Academy in the Class of 1889 as the 3,310th graduate. From his obituary:

> "As a cadet he held the various offices of Corporal, Sergeant and Cadet Lieutenant of Company A. With the Academic Course he had little trouble so far as the mathematical studies were concerned, put the languages and memory studies kept him up late at night."

He considered himself a "goat," because after an accidental explosion damaged one eye, he needed to be tutored during his senior year. And he was ranked 29 in a class of 49, technically putting him in the bottom half. Afterwards, he marked his correspondence with a rubber stamp of a goat.[86]

Alexander Ross Piper (19) was commissioned as a Second Lieutenant, 8th U.S. Infantry and stationed in Fort Robinson, Nebraska, USA. From October 1890 to February 1891, because his commander Captain Corliss had a severe eye disease, he was in the field in Command of Company C, 8th Infantry, during the Sioux Indian War. His unit was assigned the role of the "home guard" defending the Ogallala (also spelled Oglala) School at the Pine Ridge Agency. (Note: Lieutenant Piper's disappointment with not being part of the action in what became known as the Battle of Wounded Knee is documented in his letters to his wife, which were published in the referenced endnote. In retrospect, his commander did him a favor by keeping him back.).[87] At the close of the Sioux Campaign, he was transferred to the 2nd Infantry, stationed at Fort Ohama, Nebraska. From 1 June 1892, until 20 June 1896, he served as Professor of Military Science and Tactics in Gordon Institute, Barnesville, Georgia, USA. On 16 July 1896 he was promoted to 1st Lieutenant, 15th Infantry and stationed at Fort Sheridan, Illinois. After nine weeks, is regiment was transferred to Fort Bayard, New Mexico. At Fort Bayard on February 7, 1897, he lost his right arm due to a gunshot wound in a hunting accident and returned to duty on March 15th. He remained at Fort Bayard until his company was sent to Fort Apache, Arizona in April 1898. At Fort Apache,

> "...owing to the scarcity of officers, he was the Post Adjutant, Commissary, Canteen Officer, Company Commander, and finally as a last straw, Post Surgeon. The hospital steward was a German devoid of humor, and started to obey literally his instructions to give all patients that reported at morning hospital call a dose of castor oil. His attention was called to the steward's failing when a corporal who had a broken leg protested.[82]"

> "On May 14th he was relieved from his various duties at Apache by an order appointing him Captain and Commissary of Subsistence of Volunteers with orders to report at Chickamauga Park. At Chickamauga he was assigned to the 2nd Brigade, 1st Division, 1st Corps, and as the Division Commissary had not been appointed he performed his duties.

> On July 26th, he departed for Puerto Rico via Newport News. The loading and rationing for forty days of 6,600 troops in thirty six hours at Newport News was still fresh in his mind as the thermometer registered 126 degrees under the metal sheds on the docks.
> His Brigade, (Hains's, 4th Ohio, 4th Pennsylvania, and 8th Illinois) was landed at Arroyo, Puerto Rico, August 3d, and with little resistance pushed on to Guayama. October 21st, he was assigned as Depot Commissary at Ponce, and there made the pleasant acquaintance of the 1st Engineers. Through their amiability and engineering skill he finally secured a Commissary storehouse that was a joy. That it was well built was proven by its trip to sea intact when the flood came in the Spring. He still holds and prizes the certificate given him by General Griffin the night the 1st Engineers sailed for home, stating that the Commissary Department had given his regiment its full rations and all the money called for by the Regimental Surgeon for the purchase of delicacies for the sick.
> Owing to illness, he was ordered to New York at the end of January. He left Ponce with the thermometer at 105 degrees and arrived in New York to find the thermometer discouraged and down to 9 degrees below zero, February 9th.
> He was assigned to duty in New York City as Purchasing Commissary for Transports, and so served until he was promoted Captain of Infantry and retired from active service, July 11, 1899.[82]"

As a "Captain, Assistant Commissary of Subsistence", he was awarded the Silver Star for Gallantry in Action. [NOTE: the award certificate, signed by the Secretary of War, was not issued until 1927.]

On 11 July 1899, he, his wife, and their 4 children at the time, moved to Sing Sing (now Ossining-on-Hudson), New York.[82]

> "He entered commercial life, first with the Seamless Metal Ware Company as manager, and then for a short time was manager and treasurer for the Mobile Company of America and treasurer of the Cosmopolitan. With the advent of the Low Administration, he was appointed Superintendent of Final Disposition, Department of Street Cleaning, City of New York, and so served until October 21, 1902, when he was appointed Second Deputy Police Commissioner. During his incumbency he installed the "Block System", "One-Way" street traffic; and the use of mounted police in regulating traffic. The "Block System" is now used in cities all over the world.

> On 1 January 1904, Tammany returned to power, and his services were no longer required."

He also developed the Traffic Regulations and Rules of the Road.[82]

In 1902, Alexander Ross Piper (19) and Marie Susan Cozzens (56) first moved to Bay Ridge, Brooklyn, NY and moved again into 7522 2nd Avenue, Bay Ridge, where they lived from 1907 until 1942. In about 1904,

> "At the solicitation of the City Club of Chicago, he made an investigation of the Police of Chicago, and since then all investigations in Chicago have been dubbed “Piperizing”. A similar investigation of the Police of Schenectady was made by Captain Piper, assisted by Honest Dan Costigan. During the investigation the Chief of Police died of a heart attack (?), and the Chief of Detectives disappeared."

The report of the investigation became known as the "Piper Report", which is discussed in the endnote.[88]

From his obituary,

> "[On] March 2, 1904, Piper became General Superintendent of the American Railway Traffic Company, a subsidiary of the Brooklyn Rapid Transit Company and subsequently President and General Freight Agent of the South Brooklyn Railway Company. He was President of the South Brooklyn Railway Company for 24 years and also in charge of the Medical and Welfare Departments of the Brooklyn-Manhattan Transit Corporation. He was [eventually] retired with pension, July 1, 1940 by the South Brooklyn Railway Company and B.-M.T. Corp.
> At the outbreak of World War I, the South Brooklyn Railway Company and the Brooklyn-Manhattan Transit Corporation gave him a leave of absence with full pay.[82]"

In 1905, Alexander Ross Piper (19) was called to testify before the "Committee on the Police Problem. Although he was not involved in the study, he was asked to testify based on his experience. (Note: His name appears in the report multiple times and his testimony begins on pg. 162.)[89]

He, with two others, bought what is commonly called "The Farm" or "Peppeneghek" in South Salem, Westchester, New York, USA, in 1911.

On 11 April 1917 Alexander Ross Piper (19)

> "...[On] April 11, 1917, he was recalled to active duty and assigned to the New York Quartermaster Depot to examine 500 candidates for commissions in the Quartermaster Corps. He was appointed Finance Officer of the Depot, August 15, 1917 and promoted to Lieutenant > Colonel, March 5, 1918; and advanced to Colonel, May 25, 1918, and relieved General Slavens in command of the New York Depot. Under a new reorganization of the Quartermaster Corps, he was appointed Port Supply Officer of the New York Depot, July 10, 1918, and October 24, 1918 he was transferred to Newport News as Port Storage Officer, Quartermaster Corps, Port of Embarkation, Newport News. December 9, 1918, he was transferred to the Port of Embarkation, New York as Port Utilities Officer.

> Upon his own request, he was Honorably Discharged as Colonel, Quartermaster Corps, N.A., January 11, 1919, and reverted to his former status on the Retired List as Captain of Infantry.[82]"

He returned to civilian life and was the President of the South Brooklyn Railway Company for another 20 years.[82]

He was the President of the Association of Graduates, U.S. Military Academy, 1934-1936.

> "...he was honored by a Resolution, passed by the Association, commending him for his service as President. On June 138, 1938, the Association passed a Resolution commending a committee consisting of Colonel Alexander R. Piper, Chairman, General Charles McK. Saltzman and General Charles D. Rhodes for their success in having Congress pass a law bestowing upon all living graduates and future graduates of the United States Military Academy the degree of Bachelor of Science. ...
> He was ... a member of the Society of Colonial Wars; member of the Sons of the Revolution; member of the Society of Indian Wars; charter member of the West Point Society of New York; an Association member of the Association of the 1st Regt. Volunteer Engineers; and a member of the University Club, New York City.[90]"

He and Marie Susan Cozzens (56) finally moved to their country home at Peppeneghek in South Salem, Westchester, New York, USA, in 1942.

She first met Eric Outram c1938 while living in Gerrards Cross, Buckinghamshire, UK (1936-1939). She enjoyed ensuring that as many of her children as possible would always come with her to church, her social hub, every Sunday. From the Wikipedia entry, based on Egle's "Pennsylvania Genealogies: Chiefly Scotch-Irish and German"

> The Reverend John Elder, known as the "Fighting Pastor", was the pastor for the Paxtang congregation, located in present-day Dauphin County, Pennsylvania, near Harrisburg. He founded the Paxton Boys.
>
> He was raised and educated in Edinburgh, receiving a classical education at the University of Edinburgh and then he studied divinity, receiving a licence to preach the gospel in 1732. His father had emigrated to central Pennsylvania c. 1730, Elder followed c. 1735. A ministry opened when the Derry congregation split in two, and Elder was called and ordained by the Paxtang congregation.
>
> The French and Indian War led to conflict with local Indians. Elder organized a local militia known as the Paxton Boys. He and most male congregants brought their rifles to church. After the war was over, Elder was commissioned as a colonel. Killings of Indians continued, culminating in the "Conestoga Massacre". Elder excused the killings, refused to identify suspects, and was relieved of his command.[143]

From Egle's "Pennsylvania Genealogies: Chiefly Scotch-Irish and German":

> [When] the British army overran New Jersey, driving before them the fragments of our discouraged, naked, and half-starved troops, and without any previous arrangement, the Rev. Mr. Elder went on Sunday, as usual, to Paxtang church. The hour arrived for church-service, when, instead of a sermon, he began a short and hasty prayer to the Throne of Grace; then called upon the patriotism of all effective men present, and exhorted them to aid in support of liberty's cause and the defense of the country. In less than thirty minutes a company of volunteers was formed. Colonel Robert Elder, the parson's eldest son, was chosen captain. They marched next day, though in winter. His son John, at sixteen years, was among the first. His son Joshua, sub-lieutenant of Lancaster county, could not quit the service he was employed in, but sent a substitute.[56]

Samuel had fought under John Paul Jones and had commanded the frigate Constitution."

de Berlier Family Crest

180. Augustin Etienne DE BERLIER (2217) married Honorée Emmanuelle de Renom (2218).[168]

He was Royal Counselor at the Court of Justice of Draguignan (Conseiller Royal à la Sénéchaussée).[168]

The three known children of Augustin Etienne de Berlier (2217) and Honorée Emmanuelle de Renom (2218) were as follows:

i. François Felix Etienne DE BERLIER (2220) was born in 1743.

181ii. Chevalier Francois DE BERLIER (501) was born circa 3 October 1747 in Draguignan, Var, Provence-Alpes-Côte d'Azur, France. Memos written by de Berlier and his brother about Francois' birthdate differ by a year, 1747 v 1748. He married Margaretta Farrand (500), daughter of Daniel Farrand (896) and Margaret (?) (897), circa 1792 in Newark, New Jersey, USA, at the home of Judge (Uncle) Ferrand. He died in 1821 in Draguignan, Var, Provence-Alpes-Côte d'Azur, France.

iii. Abbé DE BERLIER (2219).

Generation Two

181. Chevalier Francois DE BERLIER (501) was born circa 3 October 1747 in Draguignan, Var, Provence-Alpes-Côte d'Azur, France. Memos written by de Berlier and his brother about Francois' birthdate differ by a year, 1747 v 1748.[168] He married Margaretta Farrand (500), daughter of Daniel Farrand (896) and Margaret (?) (897), circa 1792 in Newark, New Jersey, USA, at the home of Judge (Uncle) Ferrand. He died in 1821 in Draguignan, Var, Provence-Alpes-Côte d'Azur, France.[168]

From the source:

> "The Chevalier de Berlier became a cadet in the Royal Artillery Corps June 16, 1762. He was then 15. He then became a student at the Ecole de la Fère (a military academy). Appointed 1st Lieutenant in the Regiment of Metz July 11, 1766, he left for America with the 2nd Battalion of this regiment on August 25, 1777.
>
> On May 9, 1778 he is appointed 2nd Captain of the workmen and Director of the (munitions) park in the Windward Isles (Isles du Vent.). He is entitled to a pension for 19 wounds received in America (December 17, 1780.) He becomes Captain of a Company of Sappers - still in the Metz Regiment in America.
> He returns to France where he becomes 1st Captain and Second Inspector at the Armament Manufactory in Saint Etienne (April 19, 1782) On December 14, 1783 the king made him Chevalier de Saint Louis (a high military honor - equivalent to the Silver Star.)
>
> On June 25, 1791 he is appointed Captain of an artillery company at Cete (west of Marseilles.) He becomes Lieutenant-Colonel, 2nd-in-Command of Artillery at Huningue (near Mulhouse in Alsace) August 28, 1792. He is in command of the Artillery at Antibes June 11, 1793.
>
> After Toulon is captured by the English (August 21, 1793) he was sent by the "Représentants Directeurs", on mission with the Army in Italy. He was discharged by the Directorate. he had 35 years' active service in the army. It is not at all certain that he joined his post in Italy.[168]"
>
> "In fact, his trace was lost (by the War Department in France) during 20 years (from 1794 to 1814). Everything leads to believe that, wishing to avoid the police, he wanted to return to North America. There he discovered Margaret Farrand whose family he probably had known during the American Revolutionary War some fifteen years before. They were married by Judge Farrand, an uncle, in Newark, New Jersey in 1791 or 1792. The records are inexact. But this can be explained by the fact that an independent country had just been born and the new civil servants were not yet experts in their new functions.[168]"
> "At the beginning of the Restoration, when Napoleon fell in 1814, [he] left the United States for France. He never came back. He was 67 at this time and suffered from his many wounds. He appealed to King Louis XVIII for a pension. But his attitude between 1789 and 1793 (the French Revolution during the reign of Terror) made his request difficult. Because of this, his younger brother, the Abbé de Berlier, vicar of Saint Roch in Paris, wrote rather reluctantly to the king for him and the pension finally was granted. (needless to say, the king was a renowned bigot.)

In 1819 we find him living in his property of Eyguières near Orgon (Bouches du Rhône) in Provence. He was now Mayor of Eyguières and of Roquemartine. He died two years later in Draguignan.

Related to the important families in southern France, he was highly protected at the court of Versailles (by Gribeauval, the Duke of Fransac, François de Couzié, Archbishop of Tours.) He signed his letters "le Chevalier de Berlier" before the French Revolution, "Citizen Berlier" during the Revolution, and "le Chevalier de Berlier La Rémolle" during the Restoration.

In his requests to Louis XVIII, he never mentioned his marriage in America. This may be explained by the fact that during this bigoted period, the existence of a Protestant wife would not have helped him obtain a pension.

Our family tradition in America has not given François Augustin a very good reputation. But we should not forget that the Chevalier de Saint Louis, 19 times wounded, was the ancestor of a long series of Army officers who continue to represent the family at West Point to the present day.[168]"

Alton Donnell's note: Berlier was born in Draguignan, Var, Provence-Alpes-Côte d'Azur, the self-proclaimed "Capital of Artillery." It has been the home of "Ecole nationale d'artillerie" (Artillery School) since 1976.

The 2nd battalion of the Metz Regiment took part in the Siege of Savannah from 16 September–18 October 1779 and retreated from the area to join the army of Nathanael Greene, which it remained with until it moved to Yorktown to join the Expédition Particulière, led by Général Jean-Baptiste Donatien de Vimeur, Comte de Rochambeau.

DeBerlier qualified for a pension because of wounds he received well before the Siege of Yorktown and around the time he took over the Sapper Company. Sappers were used extensively to prepare the gun emplacements for the allied artillery during the siege of Yorktown in October 1781. Often the term “miners” is used with sappers; they dig into and undermine the enemy’s fortifications.

After the fall of Yorktown, the Army of Rochambeau moved north to Virginia until the conclusion of the war.

One of Berlier’s protectors was Lieutenant General Jean-Baptiste Vaquette de Gribeauval (15 September 1715 – 9 May 1789), a French artillery officer and engineer who revolutionized the French cannon. As the senior French artillery officer and commander of the Chevalier de Saint Louis since 1765, he was certainly aware of Berlier's award of the Chevalier de Saint Louis and the actions on which it was based.

Sarah Van Dyke Berier Ross, c1864

187. Sarah VanDyke Berier ROSS (106) was born on 25 November 1846 in Gambia, Ohio, USA. She married James Wilson Piper (102), son of Alexander Moore Piper (343) and Anne Espy Elder (346), on 6 August 1863 in Fort Hamilton, New York, USA, by the Reverend Currie.[62] She died on 31 March 1886 in Cincinnati, Hamilton, Ohio, USA, at age 39. She was buried at the Wesleyan Cemetery in Cincinnati, Ohio, USA.

Her husband was seriously ill before his death in October 1876 because of wounds suffered during the Civil War. When he passed, Sarah was seized "with an attack of nervous prostration" for which her physicians prescribed alcoholic stimulants. This resulted in a significant family drama.

The use of alcohol as a treatment led to an "inordinate appetite for strong drink", and subsequently her commitment to the Fort Hamilton Inebriates' Home in June 1878 under order of the Supreme Court of New York. Her uncle Major Francis E. Berier was appointed as her "committee," like a trustee, for "her person and estate."

When admitted to the home she was suffering from delirium tremens. Under the care of the physicians of the home, she rapidly recovered and within a month or so was pronounced cured. However, her uncle Major Berier refused to permit her discharge unless she was recommitted to some Catholic or Protestant institution, usually the "Refuge of Fallen Women". Mr. Willetts, the Superintendent of the Fort Hamilton Inebriates' Home, claimed her uncle wanted to restrain her because "she was volatile and frivolous." Major Berier threatened to send her to an insane asylum. John M. Ross, her brother, wrote to Miss Annie E. Piper (1188), her late husband's sister, of Washington DC, in a letter dated 14 Jan 1879, that: "I fear her mind has been so affected that she is more fit for an insane than an inebriate asylum." Sarah was so frightened that she sent for two physicians to judge her mental condition.

Superintendent Willetts and the home's Resident Physician, Dr. Lewis D. Mason, were both in favor of her release before Christmas 1878. She was given liberty from the Fort Hamilton Inebriates' Home to visit friends she had made at Fort Hamilton, which started the movement to release her.

The court received affidavits from a variety of sources, including Superintendent Willetts and Dr. Mason who pronounced her cured and "possessed of strong will power to abstain from the use of liquor," and from friends who met her frequently at the Warm Springs in Perry County, Pennsylvania in 1876 before her husband's death as to her "gentle and refined behavior". Annie Elder Piper (1188) asserted to the court that Major Berier was unfit to be Sarah's "committee." Sarah asserted to the court that her uncle was under the influence of liquor when he visited her, and was "irritable, abusive, and unjust", that his threats to have her committed to an asylum were "unjust aspersions on her character," and that he intended to keep her in restraint "to keep her from all further enjoyment of life and society." Sarah further asserted that that she had "recovered from her appetite for strong drink," that she was able to abstain and never expected to return to it, and that she was recovered by July 1878.

After the court's decision to release her, Major Berier who had possession of all her property, amounting to $448, and her pension of $24/month, paid the cost of her board and restored all property. (Quotations above are directly taken from the source.).[69]

Pennsylvania, USA, at age 25.[191] He was buried at the Laurel Hill Cemetery in Orangeville, Columbia, Pennsylvania, USA.[191]

William Wallace Ricketts (2445) was a Civil War Union Army Officer. He served during the Civil War as Colonel and commander of the 6th Pennsylvania Reserves.

He joined the war effort possibly straight out of medical school as he was a physician and enrolled as a captain, but was quickly promoted to colonel at the young age of 24.

He left the Army because of ill health and died young.[191]

Captain Robert Bruce Ricketts

200. Robert Bruce RICKETTS (2444) was born on 29 April 1839 in Orangeville, Columbia, Pennsylvania, USA.[192] He married Elizabeth Reynolds (2446) in 1868.[193] He died on 13 November 1918 in Colley, Sullivan, Pennsylvania, USA, at age 79.[192] He was buried at the Ricketts Family Cemetery in Ricketts Glen State Park, Sullivan, Pennsylvania, USA.[192]

Robert Bruce Ricketts (2444) was a Union Army Officer in the Civil War. He served as Colonel of the 1st Pennsylvania Volunteer Light Artillery. R. Bruce Ricketts is best known for his battery's defense against a Confederate attack on Cemetery Hill on the second day of the Battle of Gettysburg.

From War and Tranquility: From Gettysburg to Glen with Robert Bruce Ricketts, published in Pennsylvania Heritage in 2014:

> Ricketts enlisted in the Union Army in July 1861 as a private and by the time the war ended four years later in spring 1865, he was a colonel and inspector of the artillery reserve for nearly the entire Army of the Potomac.
> By the time the opposing Union Army of the Potomac and Confederate Army of Northern Virginia smashed into one another at Gettysburg, Ricketts had already fought in some of the war's bloodiest engagements at the Second Battle of Bull Run, Antietam and Chancellorsville. Before his unit marshaled at noon on July 2, 1863 in Taneytown, Maryland, he had been promoted to captain and commanded a battery unit of the Pennsylvania Light Artillery that was a consolidation of Battery F and Battery G.

The order was clear. Capt. Robert Bruce Ricketts and his two companies of artillery were to hold the Union's left flank on East Cemetery Hill just beyond the outskirts of Gettysburg. "In case you are charged here," Ricketts' commanding officer Col. C.S. Wainwright told him, "...you will not limber up under any circumstances, but fight your battery as long as you can."

When Ricketts' six cannon took their position, Confederate artillery opened fire and the Union batteries returned their volleys. As the sun quietly touched the mountains to the west, troops from Confederate Gen. Harry Hays' famed Louisiana Tigers brigade charged the Union defenses. As written in the chapter on the Pennsylvania Light Artillery in Samuel P. Bates History of the Pennsylvania Volunteers, Ricketts' battery fired "four discharges per minute, throwing five hundred pounds of deadly missiles full in the faces of the foe. But these desperate [Confederate] men had never failed in a charge, and nothing daunted, they closed up where their line was blown away, and rushed forward with deafening yells." According to Ricketts, what Union infantry defended his and the other batteries on the hill behind a stone wall "commenced running in the greatest confusion to the rear, hardly a shot was fired, certainly not a volley, and so panic stricken were they that several ran into the canister fire of my guns and were knocked over."

Ricketts' troops were now exposed. The Louisianans opened fire, but perhaps because of the smoke and evening light, they aimed too high. "I remember well the roar of the torrent of bullets as they passed over our heads," Ricketts wrote 30 years later.

The fight was just beginning. "I do not remember ever to have heard of any member of my command having failed to do his whole duty," Ricketts recalled. "Only once, for a moment, when the [Union] infantry was falling back, some of my men gave back, but were instantly rallied with the cry 'Die on your own soil boys before you give up your guns.'"

The fighting descended into chaotic hand-to-hand combat, the men using handspikes, hammers, pistols, stones or anything they could find to inflict fatal damage on their enemy. "The situation had now become really desperate," Ricketts wrote.

The Confederates captured the left-most gun in Ricketts' command and took three prisoners, one who would die from a mortal wounding. Ricketts lost six men killed and 11 wounded that day before reinforcements from the Union 2nd Corps, commanded by Hancock, rushed to Ricketts' right and drove the Confederates back.

Ricketts later saw action during the Wilderness Campaign and the Siege of Petersburg.[194]

Robert Bruce Ricketts (2444) was discharged one month before Lee's surrender on June 3, 1865.

The Ricketts owned land at Lake Ganoga, the highest lake east of the Rockies. Ricketts then turned to land speculation for many years. He eventually owned 80,000 acres. His family eventually sold a large portion of the remaining land to the Pennsylvania Game Commission some of which became Ricketts Glen State Park.[194]

Elizabeth REYNOLDS (2446) was born on 13 April 1842 in Kingston, Lucerne, Pennsylvania, USA.[193] She died on 19 November 1918 in Pennsylvania, USA, at age 76.[193]

Pope (2251), on 14 May 1873.[208] He died on 10 June 1899 at Roosevelt Hospital in New York City, New York, USA.[209] He was buried on 14 June 1899 at the Green-Wood Cemetery in Brooklyn, New York City, New York, USA.[209]

He worked in real estate, the liquor business and was a lawyer. He sued his uncle Frederick, helped his wife sue her mother, and was accused by his cousin Herman of running a "dive" in New York.

Caroline Christiana ROPKE (2242) was born in 1853 in Brooklyn, Kings, New York, USA.[210] She died in 1902. She was buried at the Green-Wood Cemetery in Brooklyn,

New York City, New York, USA.[210] Caroline married Henry Siefke (2244) the nephew of Frederick (2075) and a cousin of Herman (133).

Caroline Siefke was accused of attempting to poison her mother Mrs. Pope and her brother John P. Ropke. (Things are a bit confusing because both Caroline and her mother were married multiple times.) On 31 August 1878, she prepared a "Pot Cheese" and had a young man John Blankmeyer, 13, deliver it to her mother's house, claiming it was prepared by Mrs. Cook, a maid of Mrs. Ropke, who often sent gifts delivered by her son. Mrs. Siefke told John to tell her mother that Mrs. Cook's son was ill and could not deliver it himself like usual. She promised him 10 cents to deliver the package and another 15 cents after it was done. She was gone when he returned. He later identified her in court.[211]

Caroline was no stranger to the court system. She was not on good terms with her mother because she had an ongoing suit against her, filed by her husband Henry, to get more out of an inheritance. It's not clear how that suit came out.

Her mother, too, was the finagling kind. She married Mr. Pope, then she, the new Mrs. Pope, had him sign over the property he owned at marriage so they could take out a loan on it, then promptly divorced him leaving him destitute.[212] Caroline sued her husband's cousin Herman for slander. There is no indication how this was settled.[213] On 11 December 1896 Caroline allegedly surprised a burglar in the hallway of her home who, by her son's description, "…squirted some kind of liquid into her face with a bulb, which he held in his hand. Then he tore her diamond earrings from her ears, and a gold breast pin from the neck of her dress. My mother fell screaming to the floor. The man ran downstairs and dashed out the front door." Although Caroline was sure it was carbolic acid, when reporters arrived she refused to see them because "she was too much prostrated." Henry, by then having left the liquor business and become a real estate agent, was tending to a sick horse in the basement and was unaware of the incident. Caroline apparently recovered fully and there was no mention whether an insurance policy was involved.[214]

After her husband Henry, then an alderman, died, Caroline sued her son Henry to get more out of the estate than Henry the elder had included in his will. By the age of 25 he had received seven citations for valour in battle ("Croix de Guerre") and the French Légion d'Honneur. His rank when he left the French Navy was Capitaine de Corvette, the equivalent of a Lieutenant Commander.

Descendants of Leonard Cozzens (1097)

Generation One

Cozzens Family Crest

226. Leonard COZZENS (1097) was born in 1690 in Devises, England. Alexander Ross Piper cites Harmon Cozzens who quotes Leonard's family bible as "in the Parish of All Commings in Wiltshire, England near Devizes (about 6 miles away) 'the nearest market town.[235]' " He married Margaret Taylor (1098), daughter of Robert Taylor (1908) and Deborah Peckham (1909), in July 1712. He married Sarah Wheatley (1231) on 6 April 1758 at Friends Meeting House in Newport, Rhode Island, USA.[236] He died on 2 May 1769 in Newport, Rhode Island, USA.[237]

The Cozzens name comes from the Middle English as Cousin and Old French where it was Cusin. It is generally believed to be derived from the word meaning "relative." The name began to appear in England around the time of the Norman Conquest, 1066.[238]

This effort on the Cozzen family relies heavily on the excellent work done by David Livingston, which he documented in several papers. The most important of these are "Cozzens' Hotels West Point and New York.[239]" And "Colonial Cozzens.[240]" My efforts here are not intended to duplicate David's detailed work, but rather to capture certain bits of information, and to provide pointers to the reader for more in-depth information.

From Frederick Swartwout Cozzens:

> "Most of the descendants of Leonard Cozzens were seafaring men, and in colonial times...[took charge] of the colony artillery ...having learned it on shipboard. ...Sea Quakers are adept in serving this kind of war tackle, as they are cool in the engagement, always put powder enough in the touch hole, and fire low; hence all marine weapons of any calibre beyond a musket were formerly called Quaker Guns.[241]"

Leonard COZZENS emigrated in 1711 from Devises, England.[242] Leonard Cozzens (1097) was a tailor. In fact, he was referred to as "Newport's finest tailor" which gave him entry to the social set in Newport.[236] On 3 May 1715, he was admitted as a "freeman of the Colony of Rhode Island.[241]"

In "Colonial Cozzens," David Livingston comes to the important conclusion about the parentage of Issachar Cozzens (105) (excerpts of which are extracted below – I have marked (I) to show the father from Providence and Newport and (II) to indicate the father of Issachar Cozzens):

> "Deborah Cozzens and Issachar Pollock (II) were never married. Issachar Pollock (II) was already married and had a wife and at least one son in New York at the time Deborah was supposed to have secretly married him. There is a listing in the American Genealogical - Biographical Index of an Issachar Pollock born in 1750 in New York, Vol. 138, page 216.
> I believe this to be the son of Issachar Pollock (I) of Providence and Newport.

Issachar (II) returned to New York, his signature appears on an oath of loyalty to King George III drawn in Queen's County (New York) 21st October 1776. … The evidence I have of an Issachar Pollock transacting business in New York in the 1780's and 90's are probably referring to what I believe is his son, [Issachar (II)] born in 1750. … The 1790 Federal Census of New York City and County, Dock Ward, lists Issachar Pollock (II) as head of a household of five. …

I have no doubt that Issachar Pollock was the father of a son by Deborah Cozzens that she named Issachar. The story that they were secretly married in 1752 was probably made up in an attempt to bring some legitimacy to the birth…My theory, and I confess it is only that, is Deborah, well into her twenties and unmarried, …was seduced by Issachar Pollock, and not suspecting that he was already married, moved into his rooms in Providence, fully expecting to become his wife and mother of his child.

When Issachar (II)... was confronted after an extended absence from Rhode Island, by a son, he realized the problems, including expulsion from the Colony, not to mention his religious family, he ran, leaving Deborah to fend for herself. Leonard and Margaret took their daughter and her child back into their home, and he was raised as their grandchild, and automatically, assumed the name Cozzens.[257]"

Issachar POLLOCK (1099) lived with a wife and family in New York City, New York, USA, after 1750.

The only known child of Deborah Cozzens (1096) and Issachar Pollock (1099) was:

He married Mary Daniels (355), daughter of Peter Daniels (1228) and Tabatha Hayward (1229), on 1 November 1778 at Second Congregational Church (now the Beneficent Congregational Church) in Providence, Rhode Island, USA. He married Susanna Green (1143) on 20 October 1799. He died on 18 January 1840 in New York City, New York, USA, at age 85. He was buried at the Moravian Burial Ground in New York, New York, USA.

233. Matthew COZZENS (1107) was born on 4 July 1726 in Newport, Rhode Island, USA.[258] He married Sarah Easton (1952) in 1752 at Trinity Church in Newport, Rhode Island, USA.[259] He married Elizabeth Tillinghast (1175) in 1754 at Trinity Church in Newport, Rhode Island, USA.[259] He died in 1779 in Charlestown, South Carolina, USA.

Matthew Cozzens (1107) was a successful sailor and member of the Newport Marine Society.[259] In 1756, Matthew Cozzens (1107) was a privateer, commissioned by King

George II, operating and owning a share of the ship "Defiance" a brigantine, out of Newport. in Newport, Rhode Island, USA.[258] Matthew Cozzens (1107) was exiled under provisions of the "Test Act" promulgated by the Assembly of Newport, which required loyalty to the American Revolution. His early business interests, including as a privateer, would make that difficult. The entire story is described in "Colonial Cozzens."

This is likely the same Matthew Cozzens who freed Richard Cozzens, the musician in the Colonial Army, as described by David Livingston, in "Richard - Another Cozzens.[260,261]"

He was a sea Captain. In 1776, he was involved in a naval encounter in Narragansett Bay, where two British warships, a "brig" and a sloop were at anchor. The brig and the sloop, loaded with provisions and salt, were captured by the American revolutionaries from under the nose of the British warship. He was the Captain of the sloop, and assumed to be under British control, or commandeered by them.[264] In 1777, Gregory Cozzens (1110) was Captain of the "George", where because of an apparent mutiny, his ship was seized, sailed to North Britain, and he was "imprisoned on the prison ship

'Revenue' in Glascow." The ship was sold at auction. Later, he was chartered to sail a ship to support the revolutionary forces at Charleston in April 1780.[265]

He was a friend of Generals Scott, Lee, and Grant and hosted a meeting between Scott and President Lincoln during the Civil War. The Cozzen's Hotel was sold in 1876 to Henry Cranston who renovated the hotel and changed the name to "Cranston's". Within two years he filed for bankruptcy and the property was eventually owned by James Pierpont (J. P.) Morgan and managed by the Goodsell Brothers.

It was sold to the Catholic Diocese and the Franciscan Sisters established Ladycliffe College. The property was eventually absorbed into West Point's South Post.[283,284]

(4176).[287] He died on 23 December 1869 in Brooklyn, New York City, New York, USA, at age 51. He was buried at the Saint Johns Cemetery in Yonkers, Westchester, New York, USA.[288]

Frederick Swartwout Cozzens (1089) was an American humorist, born in New York City. He became in early life a wine merchant, and later editor of the Wine Press. He had previously contributed humorous poems and articles to magazines, and in 1853 he issued his first volume, Prismatics, under the pen name "Richard Haywarde." Then came the Sparrowgrass Papers, first published in The Knickerbocker, and in 1856 as a widely read volume. They dealt with the trials of a city man who undertakes to run a country home (near Yonkers). Three years later (1859) he published a volume of travel sketches, Acadia; or a Sojourn among the Blue Noses. Soon after the American Civil War he failed in a business promoting the sale of native wines, and retired from Yonkers, New York to Rahway, New Jersey.[289]

Abraham Martling COZZENS (1094) was born on 3 June 1811 in Manhattan, New York, New York, USA.[290] He married Marion Anne Curtis (1284), daughter of Thomas D Moore (3364), circa 1834.[291] He married Susan Antoinette Kelley (1315) in January 1859.[291] He died on 6 February 1868 in Manhattan, New York, New York, USA, at age 56.[292] He was buried at the Green-Wood Cemetery in Brooklyn, New York City, New York, USA.[290]

He chose not to go into the hotel business, but instead took a position with Thomas D. Moore, an importer and dealer of fine glassware.[291] Abraham Cozzens had become a respected and moderately wealthy merchant at a young age. And through connections and friendships he must have established earlier, he became associated with an informal group, the Sketch Club, which consisted of some of the literary and artistic notables of the city at the time. He was later a member of a similar organization, called the Century Club.[293]

The American Art Union (AAU) was formed in 1849. A number of prominent citizens were named to the Committee of Management. In addition to their function as an administrative body, they were the ones to receive, review, and recommend the acceptance and purchase of any art works to be purchased, displayed and ultimately distributed. Abraham Martling Cozzens was named to this Committee in 1840, and he served until 1850 when he became President, an office he held until the Union was dissolved in 1853. David Livingston's discussion in the endnote reference is worth the read.[294]

On 16 January 1863, an announcement appeared in New York papers, announcing the formation of the New York Kerosene Oil Company. Cozzens was one of the officers. He owned most of the shares and became President of the company, now named Cozzens Kerosene Oil. After a fire in 1865 that destroyed their production facility in Blissville, Long Island, Abraham and his son Thomas attempted to rebuild the company.[292] The Cozzens Kerosene Oil Company eventually failed as did Abraham Martling Cozzens (1094).[292] He died about a week after lawsuits were started against him after his business failed. His doctor claimed death was caused by the failures and the anxiety over the lawsuits.

Cozzens was not held personally liable for the debts of the company, but he was still personally insolvent, and within a month of his death, his property was sold at auction. All the etchings that he had been issued as a subscriber to the American Art Union, and his private library, which consisted of 367 lots of both individual and multi-volume editions, were sold April 22 and 23, 1868, at the Clinton Hall Book Sale Rooms & Art Galleries, on Astor Place. The Catalogue of the book auction described it as "Comprising a Very Choice and Elegant Collection of Books in Various Departments of Literature, in Fine Bindings and best Editions, many very scarce and valuable." The event was very well attended, as Cozzens was recognized as one of the finest collectors of American Contemporary Art at the time.[295]

In 1889, he was the "steward" of the Gerlach apartment house, on West Twenty-seventh Street, when he took the freight elevator to the second floor. There, it is surmised, that as he prepared to leave, his left foot became jammed between the platform and the shaft, and that he tried to release himself by a sudden jerk and dashed his head against the elevator fracturing his skull. He was taken insensible to the New York Hotel where he died at 12:30 in the morning.[301]

Colonel Alexander Moore Piper, c 1865

Alexander Moore PIPER (509) was born on 11 May 1828 in Carlisle, Cumberland, Pennsylvania, USA.[56] He died on 22 February 1902 at the Park Avenue Hotel in New York City, New York, USA, at age 73.[58] He was buried on 26 February 1902 in United States Military Academy Cemetery, West Point, Orange, New York, USA, Location XXII, A, 06. His first school years were spent at Mr. Alfred Armstrong's Academy, and he was for a short time at Dickenson College. His last years were with Captain Alden Partridge's Pennsylvania Military Institute. (Captain Partridge had graduated from the Military Academy in 1806, was the Superintendent of the Military Academy from 1814 to 1816, and was court martialed for refusing to leave when his replacement Colonel Sylvanus Thayer arrived.) While a pupil at this school, he received his appointment to the Military Academy on 1 March 1847 by Representative Alexander Ramsey of Pennsylvania.

Captain Partridge said that he was academically prepared to enter the Second (Junior) class, which was not allowed. He was admitted on 1 July 1847 at the age of 19.[57] On 1 July 1851 Alexander Moore Piper (509) graduated from the United States Military Academy. He was the 1498th graduate. He ranked number five in his class upon graduation and opted for an artillery commission instead of one in the engineers.[59]

He was commissioned a brevet 2nd Lieutenant in the Third U.S, Artillery at Fort Independence, Rhode Island.[57] He was promoted to 2nd Lieutenant on 12 December 1851.[57] In 1852 Alexander Moore Piper (509) served at Fort Adams, Rhode Island, and Fort Snelling, Minnesota. In August 1853, he returned to West Point as Assistant Professor of Geography, History, and Ethics, but he remained only until April 1854 when he went to Fort Monroe, Virginia.[57] In 1854 Alexander Moore Piper (509) was ordered to the far West for frontier duty at Fort Yuma, California; Fort Vancouver, Washington; and Fort Dalles, Oregon also known as The Dalles. His command opened up Oregon and Washington and protected the pioneers by establishing roads and building many block houses.[57] He was promoted to 1st Lieutenant on 31 Jan 1855.

He participated in several expeditions against the Indians. He commanded L Company of the 3rd Artillery as part of Major Edward J. Steptoe's force.[57] After a series of attacks by the Yakimas, Chinooks and Klickitats on settlements in Oregon, Lieutenant Piper was detached to support Lieutenant Philip H. Sheridan and captured a group of Chinooks on Bradford's Island on 27 March 1855. on 27 March 1855.[60] In 1856 and 1857 he was at Fort Walla Walla, Washington and Fort Umpqua, Oregon, and in 1860 went on an expedition to Upper Klamath Lake, Oregon.[57] In October 1860, Piper reported to West Point for another tour of duty as an instructor.

In February of 1861, the War Department directed Lieutenant Charles Griffin (USMA, 1847), the chief artillery instructor at West Point, to organize a battery composed of artillery officers, soldiers, and equipment from the training detachment at the Military Academy. With the approach of Lincoln’s inauguration, the battery was ordered to Washington, D.C. to help secure the capital from secessionist elements. Known as the West Point Battery, Piper was among the officers selected to be part of the new unit and accompanied it to the nation’s capital in February 1861.[61] On 14 May 1861, he was offered an appointment by the President as Captain in the Eighteenth Infantry but declined and was commissioned Captain in the Third Artillery the same day. He never joined the unit but stayed with the West Point battery in defense of Washington.[57]

He was detached from the battery when General McDowell assigned him as the Acting Assistant Adjutant-General on the staff of Colonel William Tecumseh Sherman’s 3rd brigade of the First Division of McDowell's Army. In the Manassas Campaign, he was engaged in action at Blackburn's Ford on 18 July 1861, and at Bull Run on July 21st. Sherman, a former Third Artillery officer, reported on July 25th that "Lieutenants Piper and McQuesin of my personal staff were under fire all day, and carried orders to and fro with as much coolness as on parade".[57] On 11 September 1861 Alexander Moore Piper (509) was ordered to return to West Point as Principal Assistant Professor of Chemistry, Mineralogy, and Geology. On 15 June 1862, he took command of the Light Artillery Battery at West Point and was ordered to the front.[57] He reported to Major General Pope and, at the age of 34, became Chief of Artillery for Pope's Army of Virginia. He earned a promotion to Brevet Major for gallant and meritorious service during the campaign in Northern Virginia on 30 Aug 1862.[57] In September 1862, Alexander Moore Piper (509) was detailed as the Assistant Inspector of Artillery in Washington.[57]

On 7 January 1863, Piper received an appointment as Colonel of the 10th New York Heavy Artillery Volunteers, which was raised and organized from the neighborhood of Sackett's Harbor, New York. This regiment was raised in response to Lincoln's call for 300,000 men on 2 August 1862. He led these raw recruits to the defense of Washington and drilled them into shape, and "out of chaos came order.[57]" On 27 May 1864, his "heavies" took transports for Port Royal on the Rappahannock and were soon part of General Grant's Army at Cold Harbor. Despite the artillery name, they often fought as infantry.

They served credibly in the siege of Petersburg where Piper received a second brevet. The 10th New York later operated in the Shenandoah Valley with Phil Sheridan, Piper's old comrade from the Indian fighting in the Pacific Northwest. Piper commanded the regiment in the Battle of Cedar Creek, October 19, 1864. The 10th was also at the Siege of Richmond and Petersburg at the close of the War. From 23 July 1864 to 10 November 1864, he was Chief of Artillery of the 18th Army Corps. From December 1864 to July 1865, Colonel Piper ended the war as Chief of Artillery of the Middle Military Division.

He mustered out of volunteer service with his regiment at Madison Barracks, New York on 6 July 1865. He was a loved commander, and his "...firm, unswerving discipline made even those whom he punished admire him." The regiment presented him with a "very handsome watch, and he never failed to show with pride this token of appreciation." They also commissioned the portrait by Theodore Gegoux.[57]

Alexander Moore Piper (509) was commissioned into the 4th Artillery and served as Principal Instructor of Artillery Tactics at the Military Academy, 24 July 1865 to 28 August 1872.[57] In 1872, he took a leave of absence from the military, after Adelaide's unsuccessful pregnancy, then returned to active duty. On his return, unsolicited, General Grant offered him a promotion to Major in the Paymaster's Department, but he declined to leave the artillery.

He was promoted to Major on 20 December 1875 while in command of a company at Ft. Hamilton, Brooklyn. He returned to the Military Academy as Principal Instructor of Artillery Tactics from September 1876 to August 1881.[57] Alexander Ross Piper notes in his manuscript "Alexander Piper" that:

"His ideas of right and wrong and strict obedience to orders were well illustrated during his last tour of duty at the Academy, when Gen. O. O. Howard, the Superintendent of the Academy, issued an order that no soldier should walk on the sidewalk in front of the officer's quarters. Col. Piper promptly took the middle of the roadway and walked there until called upon for an explanation, when he stated that he was a soldier, and proud of it, though he was also an officer. The order was rescinded.[57]"

He was in command of Ft. Trumbull, Connecticut when he was promoted to Lieutenant Colonel, 1st Artillery on 8 November 1882. He was transferred to 3rd Artillery 10 November 1882 and was placed in command of the Artillery Regiment and St. Francis Barracks, Florida, 25 December 1882 to January 1884. He was transferred to 1st Artillery January 1884 for duty at the Presidio of San Francisco, California and was in command of the Artillery Regiment and Presidio of San Francisco, where he was promoted to Colonel, 5th Artillery on 10 August 1887. He then commanded Ft. Hamilton, New York from October 1887 until he retired at his own request on 1 July 1991.[57]

The January 9, 1932 edition of the New Yorker Magazine, has a story in the "Talk of the Town" section which states the following:

> "Miss Evangeline C. Cozzens owns and runs the Redding Company now. She came into the business in a rather complicated way. It was founded in 1859 by Moses W. Redding, a prominent Mason. He sold Masonic books, regalia, gavels, etc. When he died, he left the business to his wife. She married again--a Mr. Cozzens. Miss Cozzens is the child of the second marriage. She inherited the business from her mother."

The article continues:

> "Besides gavels, she sells all kinds of Masonic doodads. You can walk right in and buy a skull, for example; a West Indian one for ten dollars, a North American one for twenty-five. Caucasians come pretty high. You get a reduction on skulls damaged by shark's teeth. The Masons use these in their ceremonies. You can also get an imitation grave, a sort of grass mat, for six dollars and a half. Also all sorts of Masonic emblems and fezzes."

She retired from the company in 1952. Alexander Ross Piper, c 1910

Alexander Ross PIPER (19) was born on 1 March 1865 in Fort Wadsworth, Staten Island, New York, USA.[82] He was baptized in Church of the Holy Innocents, Highland Falls, Orange, New York, USA. He died on 21 November 1952 at Peppeneghek in South Salem, Westchester, New York, USA, at age 87. He was buried on 24 November 1952 at United States Military Academy Cemetery in West Point, Orange, New York, USA, (Location I, A, 24).[84]

Alexander Ross Piper wrote his own obituary, which was published after his death by the Association of Graduates, United States Military Academy in their magazine "The Assembly". Much of the following comes from the obituary either paraphrased or quoted directly. Some minor edits were made for clarity.[82]

Until 1876, he lived at several Army posts, principally at Fort Hamilton, New York Harbor; Columbia, South Carolina; and Fort Monroe, Virginia.[82] After his father's death in 1876, he lived with his uncle Alexander Piper (509) (Colonel, 5th U.S. Artillery) and Aunt Addie (508), and with his cousin (by marriage) and future wife Marie Susan Cozzens (56) at West Point, New York. Beginning in 1881, he lived with his uncle William Kirkpatrick Piper (1158) at Carlisle, Pennsylvania, USA, where he went to public school and worked in his uncle's stationary shop until he received his appointment to the Military Academy.

He received his nomination to the Military Academy in 1885 from Congressman Singiser of Idaho which was not admitted to the Union until 1890 when it became the 43rd state. David Livingston unraveled the mystery by discovering that his nomination came from Theodore Frelinghuysen Singiser (1845-1907) who was the Representative of the Territory of Idaho in the 48th U. S. Congress, 1883-1885. Singiser was born in Cumberland County and served in the Pennsylvania military during the Civil War. From there he may have known the Piper family and was willing to forward the nomination to the Secretary of War and the President.[85]

Alexander Ross Piper (19) graduated from the United States Military Academy in the Class of 1889 as the 3,310th graduate. From his obituary:

> "As a cadet he held the various offices of Corporal, Sergeant and Cadet Lieutenant of Company A. With the Academic Course he had little trouble so far as the mathematical studies were concerned, put the languages and memory studies kept him up late at night."

He considered himself a "goat," because after an accidental explosion damaged one eye, he needed to be tutored during his senior year. And he was ranked 29 in a class of 49, technically putting him in the bottom half. Afterwards, he marked his correspondence with a rubber stamp of a goat.[86]

Alexander Ross Piper (19) was commissioned as a Second Lieutenant, 8th U.S. Infantry and stationed in Fort Robinson, Nebraska, USA. From October 1890 to February 1891, because his commander Captain Corliss had a severe eye disease, he was in the field in Command of Company C, 8th Infantry, during the Sioux Indian War. His unit was assigned the role of the "home guard" defending the Ogallala (also spelled Oglala) School at the Pine Ridge Agency. (Note: Lieutenant Piper's disappointment with not being part of the action in what became known as the Battle of Wounded Knee is documented in his letters to his wife, which were published in the referenced endnote. In retrospect, his commander did him a favor by keeping him back.).[87] At the close of the Sioux Campaign, he was transferred to the 2nd Infantry, stationed at Fort Ohama, Nebraska. From 1 June 1892, until 20 June 1896, he served as Professor of Military Science and Tactics in Gordon Institute, Barnesville, Georgia, USA. On 16 July 1896 he was promoted to 1st Lieutenant, 15th Infantry and stationed at Fort Sheridan, Illinois. After nine weeks, is regiment was transferred to Fort Bayard, New Mexico. At Fort Bayard on February 7, 1897, he lost his right arm due to a gunshot wound in a hunting accident and returned to duty on March 15th. He remained at Fort Bayard until his company was sent to Fort Apache, Arizona in April 1898. At Fort Apache,

> "...owing to the scarcity of officers, he was the Post Adjutant, Commissary, Canteen Officer, Company Commander, and finally as a last straw, Post Surgeon. The hospital steward was a German devoid of humor, and started to obey literally his instructions to give all patients that reported at morning hospital call a dose of castor oil. His attention was called to the steward's failing when a corporal who had a broken leg protested.[82]"

> "On May 14th he was relieved from his various duties at Apache by an order appointing him Captain and Commissary of Subsistence of Volunteers with orders to report at Chickamauga Park. At Chickamauga he was assigned to the 2nd Brigade, 1st Division, 1st Corps, and as the Division Commissary had not been appointed he performed his duties.

> On July 26th, he departed for Puerto Rico via Newport News. The loading and rationing for forty days of 6,600 troops in thirty six hours at Newport News was still fresh in his mind as the thermometer registered 126 degrees under the metal sheds on the docks.
>
> His Brigade, (Hains's, 4th Ohio, 4th Pennsylvania, and 8th Illinois) was landed at Arroyo, Puerto Rico, August 3d, and with little resistance pushed on to Guayama. October 21st, he was assigned as Depot Commissary at Ponce, and there made the pleasant acquaintance of the 1st Engineers. Through their amiability and engineering skill he finally secured a Commissary storehouse that was a joy. That it was well built was proven by its trip to sea intact when the flood came in the Spring. He still holds and prizes the certificate given him by General Griffin the night the 1st Engineers sailed for home, stating that the Commissary Department had given his regiment its full rations and all the money called for by the Regimental Surgeon for the purchase of delicacies for the sick.
> Owing to illness, he was ordered to New York at the end of January. He left Ponce with the thermometer at 105 degrees and arrived in New York to find the thermometer discouraged and down to 9 degrees below zero, February 9th.
> He was assigned to duty in New York City as Purchasing Commissary for Transports, and so served until he was promoted Captain of Infantry and retired from active service, July 11, 1899.[82]"

As a "Captain, Assistant Commissary of Subsistence", he was awarded the Silver Star for Gallantry in Action. [NOTE: the award certificate, signed by the Secretary of War, was not issued until 1927.]

On 11 July 1899, he, his wife, and their 4 children at the time, moved to Sing Sing (now Ossining-on-Hudson), New York.[82]

> "He entered commercial life, first with the Seamless Metal Ware Company as manager, and then for a short time was manager and treasurer for the Mobile Company of America and treasurer of the Cosmopolitan. With the advent of the Low Administration, he was appointed Superintendent of Final Disposition, Department of Street Cleaning, City of New York, and so served until October 21, 1902, when he was appointed Second Deputy Police Commissioner. During his incumbency he installed the "Block System", "One-Way" street traffic; and the use of mounted police in regulating traffic. The "Block System" is now used in cities all over the world.

> On 1 January 1904, Tammany returned to power, and his services were no longer required."

He also developed the Traffic Regulations and Rules of the Road.[82] In about 1904,

> "At the solicitation of the City Club of Chicago, he made an investigation of the Police of Chicago, and since then all investigations in Chicago have been dubbed “Piperizing”. A similar investigation of the Police of Schenectady was made by Captain Piper, assisted by Honest Dan Costigan. During the investigation the Chief of Police died of a heart attack (?), and the Chief of Detectives disappeared."

The report of the investigation became known as the "Piper Report", which is discussed in the endnote.[88]

From his obituary,

> "[On] March 2, 1904, Piper became General Superintendent of the American Railway Traffic Company, a subsidiary of the Brooklyn Rapid Transit Company and subsequently President and General Freight Agent of the South Brooklyn Railway Company. He was President of the South Brooklyn Railway Company for 24 years and also in charge of the Medical and Welfare Departments of the Brooklyn-Manhattan Transit Corporation. He was [eventually] retired with pension, July 1, 1940 by the South Brooklyn Railway Company and B.-M.T. Corp.
> At the outbreak of World War I, the South Brooklyn Railway Company and the Brooklyn-Manhattan Transit Corporation gave him a leave of absence with full pay.[82]"

In 1905, Alexander Ross Piper (19) was called to testify before the "Committee on the Police Problem. Although he was not involved in the study, he was asked to testify based on his experience. (Note: His name appears in the report multiple times and his testimony begins on pg. 162.)[89]

He, with two others, bought what is commonly called "The Farm" or "Peppeneghek" in South Salem, Westchester, New York, USA, in 1911.

On 11 April 1917 Alexander Ross Piper (19)

> "...[On] April 11, 1917, he was recalled to active duty and assigned to the New York Quartermaster Depot to examine 500 candidates for commissions in the Quartermaster Corps. He was appointed Finance Officer of the Depot, August 15, 1917 and promoted to Lieutenant Colonel, March 5, 1918; and advanced to Colonel, May 25, 1918, and relieved General Slavens in command of the New York Depot. Under a new reorganization of the Quartermaster Corps, he was appointed Port Supply Officer of the New York Depot, July 10, 1918, and October 24, 1918 he was transferred to Newport News as Port Storage Officer, Quartermaster Corps, Port of Embarkation, Newport News. December 9, 1918, he was transferred to the Port of Embarkation, New York as Port Utilities Officer.

Upon his own request, he was Honorably Discharged as Colonel, Quartermaster Corps, N.A., January 11, 1919, and reverted to his former status on the Retired List as Captain of Infantry.[82]"

He returned to civilian life and was the President of the South Brooklyn Railway Company for another 20 years.[82]

He was the President of the Association of Graduates, U.S. Military Academy, 1934-1936.

"...he was honored by a Resolution, passed by the Association, commending him for his service as President. On June 138, 1938, the Association passed a Resolution commending a committee consisting of Colonel Alexander R. Piper, Chairman, General Charles McK. Saltzman and General Charles D. Rhodes for their success in having Congress pass a law bestowing upon all living graduates and future graduates of the United States Military Academy the degree of Bachelor of Science. ...

He was ... a member of the Society of Colonial Wars; member of the Sons of the Revolution; member of the Society of Indian Wars; charter member of the West Point Society of New York; an Association member of the Association of the 1st Regt. Volunteer Engineers; and a member of the University Club, New York City.[90]"

Descendants of Alexander MacDonald (395)

Generation One

288. Alexander MACDONALD (395) was born circa 1610 in Glencoe, Argyll, Scotland. He married Marcella Helena Archibald (3946), daughter of Thomas Archibald (3953) and Catherine Hay (3948). He was killed at the age of 82 with his wife in the Glencoe Massacre on 13 February 1692.[313]

His official name and title were Alasdair MacIain MacDonald (395), 12th Chief of the Glencoe MacDonald Clan.[314] If he was 80 when he was killed in the Glencoe Massacre, based on reports, then the often reported birthdate of 1630 makes little sense. According to Charles Donnell's account, Scotland was undergoing serious civil and religious strife. The rulers in Scotland had accepted the Roman Catholic faith and many Protestants had begun leaving for Ireland. Soon after, the Irish officially adopted the Catholic faith and the emigrants continued their move westward.

Members of the MacDonald clan who remained were targeted by King William and more than 30 were killed at Glencoe, either outright, or by being left to starve or freeze to death. The elder Alexander MacDonald and his wife were told they would be spared but were killed anyway. Charles' account attributes the massacre to Clan Campbell, but the issue was more complicated.

The MacDonalds and Campbells had competed for the same territory in Scotland for generations, the northwest coast of Scotland and the islands. Their feuds dated back to the 1400's. By the late 1600's, the power of the Campbells had increased, while the MacDonald's power had waned. In fact, Glencoe and the other regions occupied by the MacDonalds were largely surrounded by the Campbells who could make travel difficult if they wanted to.[315]

The Wikipedia page provides a detailed accounting. The MacDonalds had sworn allegiance to King James and, after the Jacobite rebellion had failed, had not sworn allegiance to King William and Queen Mary, for which the penalty was death. Robert Campbell of Glenlyon was the commander of a small force of which some of the soldiers were also Campbells. The total force sent against the MacDonalds was about 400.[313]

There is a different version on the wikitree genealogy site that is much more charitable to Campbell. At the wikitree site, there is a link to a documentary of the Massacre of Glencoe.

The following is extracted from the wikitree site:

> "Alexander, 12th Chief of Macdonald of Glencoe was late in taking his oath of allegiance to King William. As a result, it was decided to make an example out of the clan. A plan was hatched and on February 13, 1692. Alexander along with 37 other clan members were murdered by the Earl of Argyll's Regiment of Foot under the command of Captain Robert Campbell of Glenlyon. ... He was to spare none below the age of seventy. The resulting massacre is remembered not just for its premeditated brutality but for its violation of an unwritten code of conduct: the perpetrators of the deed had enjoyed the hospitality of their victims for twelve days before turning on them. In 1688 the removal of James II and VII in favor of William of Orange had led to the first ever Jacobite uprising. Its leader, Viscount Dundee, died at the battle of Killiecrankie and the rebellion broke up. All that remained was to pacify the Highland chiefs who had joined the enterprise. To this end a proclamation was issued in August 1691 requiring clan chiefs to take the Oath of Allegiance to King William by Hogmanay that year. By the accident of reporting to the wrong official at the last possible moment, Clan MacDonald of Glencoe missed the vital deadline. Secretary of State James Dalymple, Master of Stair, was no friend to the MacDonalds. This was the excuse he had been waiting for. The order for the massacre went ahead. The chief, 33 other men, 2 women, and 2 children were killed. In defiance of his orders Robert Campbell spared the nearly one hundred women and children from slaughter and chose instead to drive them into the dark of a winter nights storm. Of which, all but a few were able to survive.[316]"

Yet another website, "Highland Titles" provides a very balanced description of the events leading up to the massacre.[317] My efforts on the Donnell genealogy builds on the work of Charles E Donnell, “A Genealogy of Donnell, Langford and Other Families”. He collaborated with Emma A and James Arthur Donnell who wrote “The Donnells and their Macdonald Ancestors, A History and Genealogy, 157 to 1927 A. D.”

I have recently discovered another source: "MacDonald McDonald Family Records," by J Montgomery Seaver that was published in 1929. This work identifies our Bryan McDonald as a Lieutenant Bryan McDonald, born in Ireland and a member of the army of King James II. This is certainly a possible ancestry branch. I stayed with our family version for several reasons:

1) The MacDonalds of Glencoe had not been doing particularly well and it is unlikely that Alexander MacIan MacDonald would have left his home turf and sired a son in Ireland.

2) In his will, Bryan MacDonald spelled his name both MacDonald and MacDonnell, but not McDonald. His will was signed with a mark, not an actual signature, which means his will may have been dictated to a family member or lawyer who was responsible for the spelling. It is unlikely that, even if Bryan spent a year or so in Ireland enroute to the colonies that he would have changed it to McDonald to fit in, then back to MacDonald in the colonies.[318]

Marcella Helena ARCHIBALD (3946) was born in 1625 in Keppoch, Isle of Skye, Scotland. She died on 13 February 1692 in Glencoe, Argyll, Scotland. She was known by her family and friends as Mary (3946).

The three known children of Alexander MacDonald (395) and Marcella Helena Archibald (3946) were as follows:

289i. Bryan MACDONALD (394) was born on 11 November 1645 in Glencoe, Scotland. He married Mary Jane Combs Doyle (396) in 1665 in Aklow, Leinster, Wicklow, Ireland. He died in February 1707 in New Castle, Delaware, USA, at age 61. His estate was probated on 19 March 1707 after the will was written on 23 February 1707. That would establish his death as late February or early March 1707.

ii. John MACDONALD (1782) was born circa 1657. He died circa 1714.

iii. Alexander MACDONALD (1783) was born in 1663. He died in 1707.

Generation Two

289. Bryan MACDONALD (394) was born on 11 November 1645 in Glencoe, Scotland (Other sources indicate a birthplace in Ireland, which is suspect).[319] He married Mary Jane Combs Doyle (396) in 1665 in Aklow, Leinster, Wicklow, Ireland.[320] He died in February 1707 in New Castle, Delaware, USA, at age 61.[321] His estate was probated on 19 March 1707 after the will was written on 23 February 1707. That would establish his death as late February or early March 1707.[321]

He was also known as Brian (394).[322] He and Mary Jane Combs Doyle (396) emigrated in 1686, after a brief stay (perhaps 2 years) in the north of Ireland, and settled, with their first three children, in Mill Creek Hundred, New Castle, Delaware, USA.[320] This land was initially part of Pennsylvania. From the source:

> Penn's New Castle Warrants records 200 acres to Bryan Mac Donald on Nov. 1, 1689. There was also record of a deed to him for "354 acres and 19 acres over' on Red Clay Creek, dated December 20, 1703. This shows that he was of the better class of immigrants and had money to buy land. Many settlers at this date had insufficient money to pay passage over and bound themselves for a certain length of time to the person who furnished the passage money.[320]

A will discovered by John A. Donnell indicated that Bryan spelled his name both MacDonnell and Mac Donald in the text of the will and signed it MacDonald. Occasionally the spelling adopted the Irish form of McDonald from their time in Ireland.

The variations from the original Mac Donald used by Bryan's descendants include MacDonnell, MacDonald, Donald (just dropped the Mac), Donnald, Donneld, and McDonald.[323]

Mary Jane Combs DOYLE (396) was born in 1647. She died in 1709.

The seven known children of Bryan MacDonald (394) and Mary Jane Combs Doyle (396) were as follows:

290i. John MACDONNELL (397) was born in 1679 in Glencoe, Scotland. He died in 1755 in New Castle, Delaware, USA.

291ii. William MCDONNELL (393) was born in 1681 in Glencoe, Scotland. He married Mary (?) (3573). He died in January 1730.

iii. James MACDONALD (398) was born in 1683 in Glencoe, Scotland. He died after 1751.

292iv. Bryan MACDONALD II (514) was born in November 1686 in Mill Creek Hundred, New Castle, Delaware, USA. He married Catherine Robinson (3121), daughter of James Robinson (3122), in 1715 in Delaware, USA. He died in 1757 in Botetourt, Virginia, USA.

v. Mary MACDONALD (515) was born in 1689 in New Castle, Delaware, USA. She married (?) Danger (3120). She died after 1707.

vi. Richard MACDONALD (1760) was born in 1691 in New Castle, Delaware, USA. He died in 1730.

vii. Anabel MACDONALD (516) was born in 1693 in New Castle, Delaware, USA. She married Andrew (?) (4161) on 25 November 1751 in Wilmington, New Castle, Delaware, USA. She died on 11 April 1800 in Peters Township, Franklin, Pennsylvania, USA.

Generation Three

290. John MACDONNELL (397) was born in 1679 in Glencoe, Scotland. He died in 1755 in New Castle, Delaware, USA.[324]

John MacDonnell is the progenitor and primary interest of the authors of "The Donnell History" and "The Donnells - The Family in America.[324]" From the source:

> John, the eldest son of the immigrant, Bryan, called himself, “MacDonnell” and settled in Cumberland County, Pa., where he left four children, Thomas, James, John and Samuel. Of these, Thomas resided in Pennsylvania; James residence not known; and John and Samuel settled in South Carolina. It is from the Pennsylvania line that many of the name of Donnell in Kentucky, Illinois, Ohio, Indiana and Iowa trace their descent.[315]

He settled in Big Spring, Cumberland, Pennsylvania, USA, in 1735.[315] He was mistakenly identified as Thomas (397) in the book "The Donnell History" published in 1912.

Known children of John MacDonnell (397) all born New Castle, Delaware, USA include these four:

i. Samuel MACDONNELL (402) was born after 1690.

ii. James MACDONNELL (400) was born after 1690.

iii. John MACDONNELL (401) was born after 1690.

293iv. Thomas MACDONNELL (399) was born circa 1715. He died in 1775.

291. William MCDONNELL (393) was born in 1681 in Glencoe, Scotland.[325] He married Mary (?) (3573). He died in January 1730.[326]

He settled in Cecil County, Maryland. William dropped the "Mac" and picked up the "Mc". His three sons dropped the "Mc" completely.

He moved to Cumberland County, then part of Lancaster County about 1743, then on to Guilford County, Carolina.

He bought 320 acres on North Buffalo in 1760 from Thomas Donnell and settled here.[327]

The three known children of William McDonnell (393) and Mary (?) (3573) were as follows:

294i. Thomas DONNELL Sr (392) was born circa 1712 in Delaware, USA. There is a possibility that it may have been Ireland. He married Jane Latham (404) in 1743 in Lancaster, Pennsylvania, USA. He died in 1795 in Guilford, North Carolina, USA. He was likely buried at the Buffalo Presbyterian Church Cemetery in Greensboro, Guilford, North Carolina, USA, but it is not confirmed.

295ii. James DONNELL Sr (421) was born in 1725 in Ireland. He married Margaret Edminston (422), daughter of William Edminston (423). He died in 1796 in Guilford, North Carolina, USA. He was buried at the Buffalo Presbyterian Church Cemetery in Greensboro, Guilford, North Carolina, USA.

296iii. Robert DONNELL Sr (408) was born in 1728 in the North of Ireland. He married Mary (?) (403). He died in 1816.

292. Bryan MACDONALD II (514) was born in November 1686 in Mill Creek Hundred, New Castle, Delaware, USA.[328] He married Catherine Robinson (3121), daughter of James Robinson (3122), in 1715 in Delaware, USA.[328] He died in 1757 in Botetourt, Virginia, USA.[326]

He was also known as McDonald (514). He moved in 1745 to Botetourt, Virginia, USA.[328] Note: In this report, Bryan used the surname McDonald and the genealogy connects back to an Alexander McDonald of Ireland. See my prior note on Alexander MacDonald and the origins of the Bryan MacDonald line.

The nine known children of Bryan MacDonald II (514) and Catherine Robinson (3121) were as follows:

i. Richard MACDONALD (4150) was born in 1716.

ii. James MACDONALD (4151) was born in 1718.

iii. Edward MACDONALD (4152) was born in 1720. He died in 1760. Killed by Indians.

iv. Joseph MACDONALD (4153) was born in 1722. He married Elizabeth Ogle (4154).

v. Rebecca MACDONALD (4155) was born in 1724.

vi. Catharine MACDONALD (4156) was born in 1727.

vii. Mary MACDONALD (4157) was born on 19 January 1730. She married Tobias Smith (4158).

viii. Bryan MACDONALD Jr (4159) was born in 1732.

Generation Four

293. Thomas MACDONNELL (399) was born circa 1715 in New Castle, Delaware, USA. He died in 1775 in Big Spring, Cumberland, Pennsylvania, USA.[324]

He settled circa 1735 in Big Spring, Cumberland, Pennsylvania, USA.[329]

Known children of Thomas MacDonnell (399) include these six:

i. Moses DONNELL (3136).

ii. John DONNELL (3134).

iii. Thomas DONNELL (3135).

iv. Samuel DONNELL (3137).

v. Alexander DONNELL (3138).

297vi. James DONNELL (1761) was born in 1739 in Hopewell, Cumberland, Pennsylvania, USA. He married Catherine Gibson (1762), daughter of Samuel Gibson (3124), in 1764. He died in 1784 in Kentucky, USA. He and Catherine Gibson (1762) were buried together in the Fall of 1784 at North Bank of the Licking River in Bourbon, Kentucky, USA.

294. Thomas DONNELL Sr (392) was born circa 1712 in Delaware, USA. There is a possibility that it may have been Ireland.[330] He married Jane Latham (404) in 1743 in Lancaster, Pennsylvania, USA. He died in 1795 in Guilford, North Carolina, USA. He was likely buried at the Buffalo Presbyterian Church Cemetery in Greensboro, Guilford, North Carolina, USA, but it is not confirmed.

In 1737, Thomas Donnell Sr (392) and Jane Latham (404) moved to Pennsylvania. From a genealogy by Susan Murphy, undated, titled "Donnell Family": Thomas and his brother Robert are on the tax rolls for > "...West Nottingham Township, Chester, Pennsylvania from 1747 to 1751. Included on these lists are many families associated with the Donnells in North Carolina, such as Kerr, Denny, Nelson, Maybn (Mebane), and Rankin.[331]"

From the source:

> "In 1741 the neighborhood was visited by a minister named George Whitefield. Thousands of [parishioners] throughout the area heard his message, which was strongly influenced by the emotionalism of John Wesley. So powerful was his preaching that it aroused great dissension within the churches, many of them, including Nottingham, splitting into two separate congregations, referred to as the "Old Side" (conservatives) and the "New Side" (followers of Whitefield).
>
> In about 1750 a group of members of the "Old Side" church at Nottingham formed a company to negotiate with the English Lord Granville, who owned vast tracts of land in Carolina. As a result, 21,120 acres along North Buffalo and Reedy Fork Creeks, in what would become Guilford County, North Carolina, were set aside for members of the Nottingham Company. About 1753 the first families arrived to take up their grants, going by way of the Great Wagon Road through Maryland and Virginia to the Carolina back country in covered wagons. At least seventeen families eventually arrived to settle on the Nottingham Company's grant.[332]"

From Rankin, to remind those of us who grew up in relative prosperity:

> “Our ancestors were real pioneers. All this section between North Buffalo and Reedy Fork Creeks was heavily covered with oak, chestnut, hickory, and poplar timber and thick underbrush. Even as late as 1781, after the Guilford Court House battle. General Greene, in reporting that battle to Congress, says: "The greater part of this country is a wilderness, with a few cleared fields interspersed here and there."
> Their first job was to clear the land and build their homes. Only a few acres could be cleared per year, and their first homes were the rudest log cabins. Their food must have been very plain and without any variety. They were having a hard time those first few years.

We have no local history describing their living conditions, but we have John Hill Martin's history which gives a minute description of the early living conditions of the first settlers in Pennsylvania. He relates that their homes were small one-room log cabins with one door and one small window and the window had no glass, just a wooden shutter. The cabins were covered with thatch or clapboards. The chimneys were usually built of sticks and mud. The floors were dirt. Their food, to a large extent, was the flesh of wild animals, and that without salt most of the time. Both men and women usually wore clothes and hats made from the skins of wild beasts. Their shoes were made from raw hides. Their furniture was hand made from rough materials. The coverings for their beds were usually the pelts of deer, beavers, bears, and wolves. No doubt this is a pretty good description of the living conditions of our ancestors for the first few years after they settled here in a wilderness. We do know their cabins were very crude and that the floors were dirt.

Wild animals were numerous, and they could secure their meat by killing buffaloes, bears, deer and squirrels. Wild fowls were plentiful, such as turkeys and quail; and also wild geese and wild pigeons in their season. Even as late as one hundred years ago the wild pigeons were still so numerous in their migration season that in passing over, they would at times hide the sun like a big cloud. The creeks were well stocked with fish. This would have been a veritable paradise for sportsmen, but our ancestors hunted and fished more for their food supply than for sport.

Their patches of wheat were cut with a small hand sickle, flailed from the straw, then separated from the chaff by pouring it from a platform on a windy day; and both wheat and corn were pounded into meal, or ground with a small hand mill, like our old coffee mills. With such crude methods of harvesting and handling wheat they could raise only small patches. Wheat bread was a rarity to be enjoyed only for breakfast on Sunday morning. Corn was the main crop and supplied bread for the family and feed for the stock.[333]

The Buffalo Presbyterian Church was located just north of the center of Greensboro, North Carolina and its location has been absorbed as the city expanded. Thomas was a ruling elder.[334] Thomas had a tavern, probably a stopping place for travelers, in his home in 1754. In 1756 Thomas was Captain of a company in the Rowan County regiment of militia. From 1756 until at least 1770, he was a Justice of the Peace.[335] In 1760, Thomas sold three hundred twenty acres of land to his brother James on the North Buffalo.[336] Rankin, in the History of the Buffalo Church, has a lengthy discussion of the Revolutionary War. In North Carolina, most of the fighting was between the English loyalists (Toreys) and the colonists who were Whigs. It was more like gang or clan warfare than organized militias. Participation of the Donnells, especially Thomas's sons was extensive. Most of his sons were in companies organized by Captain William Donnell or his brother Major John Donnell.

Rankin, discussing the Battle at Guilford Courthouse, wrote that the members of the Presbyterian congregations (Buffalo and Alamance) who were able bodied all fought for or in support of Major General Nathanael Greene. Many joined him later through the end of the war.[337]

Jane LATHAM (404) was born in 1718 in Philadelphia, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, USA.[338] She died in 1784 in Guilford, North Carolina, USA.[338] She was buried at the Alamance Presbyterian Church Cemetery in Greensboro, Guilford, North Carolina, USA.[338]

The 11 known children of Thomas Donnell Sr (392) and Jane Latham (404) were as follows:

298ii. Hannah DONNELL (406) was born in 1746 in Pennsylvania, USA. She married Alexander McKnight (2484). She married George Denny (446), son of James Denny Sr (449) and Mary Agnes Aldren (1887), on 23 February 1775 in Guilford, North Carolina, USA. She died in 1803.

He died on 7 May 1822 in Greensboro, Guilford, North Carolina, USA, at age 74. He was buried at the Buffalo Presbyterian Church Cemetery in Greensboro, Guilford, North Carolina, USA. He married Nancy Jane Denny (448), daughter of James Denny Sr (449) and Mary Agnes Aldren (1887), on 26 July 1775 in Guilford, North Carolina, USA. He was a company commander in the Battle of Camden under the command of Colonel John Peasley, where he survived a defeat of the unit by Cornwallis. A George Donnell, possibly his younger brother, was listed as a known sergeant.[350]

From "The Donnells," citing an effort by Inez Hannaford:

> "During the Revolutionary War, there was an epidemic of smallpox in Guilford County. The British Army had brought it to the neighborhood. One of the Rankins, a young soldier who had been captured by the British, escaped and headed for home. By the time he got there, he was very sick, but the many relatives and friends who came to welcome him home did not recognize the disease until many had been exposed . It spread through the Buffalo Church congregation, and one of those who became infected was John's wife Hannah.
> Inez Hannaford writes, "When his first wife Hannah Meek was on her death bed with small pox, Elizabeth Denny, a very true friend who had just recovered from the same malady, came to care for her. Hannah told Elizabeth she was going to die and wanted her to take her place. She also told her husband that was her wish. About six months after her death, they were married.[351]"

From the source:

> "Major John lived on a 400 acre "plantation" on North Buffalo Creek, not far from the residence of his parents. He was a ruling elder in Buffalo Presbyterian Church.
>
> The Guilford County Court records show that in Nov 1781, he was appointed guardian of one Martha Thompson. In Feb 1783, he became guardian to Robert McKnight, orphan son of his brother-in-law Alexander McKnight.
>
> Like most well-off land owners in the South at that period, Major John owned slaves. The first census in 1790, in which he is shown living near his brothers Andrew and James, indicates that he had one slave at that time. It also shows eleven other people in his household, five male and six female, which corresponds with his known children by both marriages. The 1800 census shows three slaves, and the children only of the second marriage, the others having left home by then. The 1815 tax list shows that he owned 1086 acres of land, valued at $3250. When he wrote his will in 1822, he bequeathed four slaves, George, Alice, Charity, and Bill.

His will, written less than two months before his death at the age of 74, provided for Elizabeth's support from the home farm, which he bequeathed to the youngest son Levi. The widow was also to have most of the livestock and household furniture, and a "Negro man named George". The married sons and oldest daughter Jane, having undoubtedly received their portions of the estate at the time their marriage, were left one dollar each. Daughters Hannah, Nancy, and Mary received $100 each. The unmarried daughters Betsy, Sarah, and Ruth received larger bequests, including cash, land, and slaves, and son Levi got the plantation, with of course the obligation to support his mother.[352]"

There is a plaque memorializing him at Alamance Presbyterian Church Cemetery, but his actual burial location is the Buffalo Presbyterian Church Cemetery.[353]

He was also known as Calvin (69). Charles Donnell spends some effort discussing the background for those who came from North Carolina and through Tennessee "…the colony as a whole, was torn all to pieces by the Civil War. The Donnells and Davises and Morrisons could no more help going into the Confederate cause than they could have been some other religious belief or been called by some other name. It was the way they were bred and raised. It was part of their being. They were honest, believed in freedom, which included State Rights, and there was nothing left for them to do but go with the Confederacy."

The State of Missouri provided extraordinary inducements for settlers including large tracts of land.[382,399] Davidson, with his brother William W (2600), built the first steam mill in Hickory County on the head of Turkey Creek just north of Cross Timbers, Hickory, Missouri, USA.[398] He became a prosperous farmer and planter there, owning slaves, and at the time of the Civil war he and three of his sons enlisted in the Confederate Army.[400] He and Alfred Portervine Donnell (2602) served together in Company D of the 11th Missouri Infantry during the Civil War. Many of the Donnells served in the Confederate Army under Colonel Sterling Price. This included James Davidson Donnell, his sons, his step-soon Robert Foster, and his brother William W. (2600)

Most of what they gained in Missouri was lost because of the Civil War.[398] In 1865, James Davidson Donnell (2598) moved to Hunt, Texas, USA. Davidson with his sons Bill and Tom built another mill, which they sold. They moved to Young County, Texas in May of 1876 where they built another mill on the Clear Fork of the Brazos.

He married Eliza Ann Cunningham (1535), daughter of James Cunningham (2391) and Mary Jane Eubank (2392), on 6 March 1867 in Washington, Arkansas, USA. He died on 2 February 1911 in Seymour, Baylor, Texas, USA, at age 71. He was buried at the Masonic Cemetery in Seymour, Baylor, Texas, USA.[416]

He moved with his family to Hickory County, Missouri at the age of two. He attended the North Prairie Academy in their colony.[412]

Lemuel Amzi Donnell enlisted on August 20, 1861, in the Missouri State Guard at the age of 22. Donnell was elected 1st Lieutenant upon enlisting in Company F, Hale's Battalion, Raines' Brigade, Price's Division as a recognition of his potential leadership. He served in the Missouri State Guard from 20 August 1861 to 21 June 1865 responsible for moving supplies of food and ammunition.

He later re-enlisted in Company H, 6th Infantry Regiment, 8th Division, Missouri State Guard. After re-enlisting in Company H, Donnell's unit fought in the Battle of Pea Ridge (March 7–8, 1862). This Confederate defeat in Arkansas was a turning point in Missouri's control. After the Battle of Pea Ridge and the reorganization of Confederate forces, he joined the 11th Missouri Infantry, a Confederate regiment. Donnell marched with the 11th Missouri Infantry in Louisiana in the Red River Campaign (March–May 1864). Donnell's diary ends in August 1864 with the 11th Missouri Infantry receiving marching orders, assumed to mean dismissal.

Donnell suffered severe illness rather than wounds. In June 1863, he wrote, he was "so reduced in flesh I can scarcely walk," recovering in the Arkansas countryside with a vegetable diet until June 28. During the Battle of Helena (July 4, 1863), he was near the battle, but ill and recovering in the countryside, rejoining his unit on July 5 after the Confederate loss.[417] Donnell captured his cousin Sam Reynolds and buried his brother Alexander in Memphis's Elmwood Cemetery on May 24, 1862.

In February 1864, Donnell joined this secret order of Southern sympathizers, Knights of the Golden Circle, noting discussions about recognizing each other in battle. This reflects his commitment to the Confederate cause beyond the battlefield.

Toward the end of his diary, Donnell wrote an acrostic poem about camp life, spelling out his name with the first letter of each line. He concluded, "Let all who read these lines of mine E'er think there's truth in every line… Let the first letter of each line be combined And in the word my name you shall find." This creative outlet reveals a reflective side amid the war's hardships.[417]

After the war was over, he settled in Washington County Arkansas, where he taught school. He moved to Texas in 1875, first stopping in St. Jo; after a year or two he moved to Palo Pinto County. The in the Spring of 1879, he started to Colorado.[412] According a published description:

> "... during the civil war, Lemuel walked from Gainesville to Texarkana, Texas, thus he was well aware of the rich fertile Texas soil, and after the war's end he and Eliza loaded all their belongings into 2 covered wagons and headed south to the great state of Texas. After traveling approximately 10 days, Lemuel and his family camped and rested alongside the red river near the Paris township in Lamar County, Texas and from there they turned westward and traveled along a dirt trail which later became US highway 82. After several additional days, Lemuel and Eliza arrived in the small town of St. Jo in Palo Pinto County, Texas and after arriving there they found the citizens to be honest, sincere, and extremely hospitable. Because of the warm reception afforded them by the citizens of St. Jo, Lemuel and Eliza then remained there for approximately one year.

Lemuel's education qualified him to be a schoolteacher and while residing in St. Jo, Texas, he taught and assisted in the work of the Presbyterian church. It is unknown how long Lemuel and Eliza resided in St. Jo, however, after residing there for approximately one year, they then moved further west in Palo Pinto County, Texas and there, resided until sometime in 1879.

Prior to 1879, Lemuel and Eliza intended to head westward to the state of Colorado, and after residing in Palo Pinto country for approximately one year they again packed their belongings into 2 covered wagons and headed westward toward the mile high state. During their journey to Colorado, Lemuel and Eliza's wagons were pulled by their prized Clydesdale horses, and during this journey they also took with them 10 cows with heifer calves. While residing in Palo Pinto county, one of Lemuel and Eliza's mares gave birth to twin colts and prior to their departure, Lemuel tied the 2 horse colts named "Jim" and "Bob" to the rear of the covered wagons, and he and Eliza Ann then headed westward to the state of Colorado.[418]"

His journey to Colorado stopped in Seymour, Texas. He built the first stone house, taught the first school in his basement, and was the superintendent of the first Sunday school. He was also the first Justice of the Peace and later a county commissioner.[412] In the 1900 Census, he listed his occupation, tongue-in-cheek, as a boardinghouse keeper. In addition to his wife, his daughter, her husband and three grandchildren lived with him. Lemuel Amzi took some humorous liberty as the census "enumerator.[419]"

Eliza Ann CUNNINGHAM (1535) was born on 13 June 1831 in Sugar Creek, Barry, Missouri, USA.[420] She married Jones Bailey Forsythe (1536) on 19 December 1858 in Barry, Missouri, USA.[421] She died on 8 September 1937 in Seymour, Baylor, Texas, USA, at age 106. Lemuel Alexander Donnell, 1911

348. Lemuel Alexander DONNELL (3895) was born on 28 November 1879 in Warsaw, Benton, Missouri, USA.[432] He married Henrietta Marion Knipp (3896), daughter of Heinrich Knipp (108) and Katherine Hibbeler (282), on 2 May 1911 at Hotel Tulia in Tulia, Swisher, Texas, USA (by the Reverend John R. Sharp, the Presbyterian minister in Tulia).[474] He died on 29 October 1968 in Canyon, Randall, Texas, USA, at age 88 two weeks after having a stroke.[475] He was buried on 31 October 1968 at the Dreamland Cemetery in Canyon, Randall, Texas, USA.[475]

He was known by his family and friends as Pop (3895).

In September 1891, Lemuel Alexander Donnell (3895) moved to Silverton, Briscoe, Texas, USA, with his parents, brothers and sisters from Seymour. From "Pop" Donnell's recollections in the Canyon News:

> During the summer of 1891, the Donnells made a prospecting trip to the plains.
> "That summer had had lots of rain and was a beautiful country. The lakes were full of water and grass was half knee-high. Pa came home with his mind made up to move. In September we arrived in Silverton." Donnell remembers.

"Dad had at that time one wagon, one hack, five just common work stock, two colts, cows and calves. Coming by way of Matador, we pulled up the Caprock east of old Della Plains."

When the Donnell family arrived in Silverton, "Dad ate his lunch, and said he was going into town, then just one store. The town was already plotted out, however. Returning to the wagon, he said, 'I've got us a place."

"The property was located 3-4 miles northwest of where we were camped then."...

"When we arrived at the property, we found a dugout, 10x12, two stacks of hay, and new wire fence."

"We put everything we could in the dugout, using it for a kitchen, dining room and parlor."

"The wagon was bedroom number one, while the hack, with 1x12 boards added to it, made bedroom number two for the boys."

"We wintered just fine, but I remembered there were a few nights when it would be stormy, very dark and snowing, with the wind from the north. We would hold to each other's hands to keep from getting separated going from the dugout to the hay stack," Donnell says.

"We had to have food, fuel, and some kind of social activity. To get a sack of flour, we had to go to Amarillo, a six-day trip. We would leave Monday morning and get back Saturday after noon.[476]"

He and Henrietta Marion Knipp (3896) arrived in December 1924 in Canyon, Randall, Texas, USA, on a cold and snowy day from Silverton in an open cab Ford truck. Keith, the oldest daughter, wrote a family history article called "Donnell's and Bauer's" that was published in "Windmilling". She elaborates further

"Uncle Charlie, being the oldest, went to Swisher Co. and got 2 sections of land. When they became of age, Sam and Daddy got a section each, working as partners.

Then tragedy struck, Uncle Sam stepped on a nail while they were working on a windmill, and in 8 days he was dead. This was a sorrow my father always carried with him. This was July 1906. Daddy carried on for a few years with hired help, then went back to Silverton to work in the Bank where he had worked at one time.[474]"

He was a cowboy. I recall family discussions that he may have worked for Charles Goodnight or his partners (likely the JA Ranch), who ran 100,000 head cattle on 1,325,000 acres in the Texas Panhandle and included the Palo Duro Canyon. See for example: https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Charles_Goodnight

"Pop" was also engaged in farming, but was primarily a cattleman, specializing in breeding, raising, and selling registered polled Hereford cattle.[120]

My recollections:

> Mother and Pop Donnell were hard working ranchers. I think I spent a few weeks every summer at their place west of Canyon. Then there were nearly daily excursions into town for shopping or to go to a Saturday movie matinee. The movie theater was the only air conditioning unless we stopped to visit Aunt Kate. Trips to town always had the benefit of a soda pop or ice cream cone. And there was the occasional drive-in movie.
>
> Not much to do for a kid, except to accompany Pop on his daily trip to count cows. The fun part of that was the challenge of jumping out of a rolling car to run ahead and open the barbwire gate, then jumping back in on the other side. He counted his cows every trip just to be sure none were missing.
>
> Pop was pretty quiet but loved his Friday night "wrassling" on TV. He, being a real cowboy, was a very good harmonica player. And told stories about places he never wanted to go again: getting cattle out of the quicksand on the Canadian River or escaping a flash flood in the Palo Duro Canyon.
>
> Mother Donnell was very involved with the Presbyterian Church. She had an upright piano that we kids would bang on but it only got played if Aunt Kate came over.

Henrietta Donnell, 1911

Henrietta Marion KNIPP (3896) was born on 17 December 1888 in Cameron, Milam, Texas, USA. She died on 31 March 1965 at LaCasa Canyon Convalescent Home in Canyon, Randall, Texas, USA, at age 76. She was buried on 2 April 1965 at the Dreamland Cemetery in Canyon, Randall, Texas, USA.[477]

In 1908, Henrietta Marion Knipp (3896) moved to Silverton, Briscoe, Texas, USA. From Keith's article:

> "She came to Silverton to teach school about the time that Daddy came back to work there. She had taught in schools closer to her home but was lured to the Plains by her sister, Kathryn Knipp, who taught near the Vigo community. I believe they came by rail to Estelline, but I know they rode the stagecoach from that point to Silverton. My father found the young woman he wanted for a wife when he met Henrietta. ...My mother thought she was marrying a banker, but the love of the land was in my father's blood. When I was in my third year, they moved back to Daddy's improved section in Swisher County.[474]"

Beginning in 1924, Henrietta Marion Knipp was the teacher in a one-room school in Canyon, Texas

She was the President of the Parent Teacher Association, the West Side Home Demonstration Club and the Canyon Women's Book Club. She was very active in the Presbyterian church, serving in the choir and teaching Sunday School.

She had a stroke 1 November 1956 at the age of 67. From Keith's article:

> "Tragedy came to our family when Mother suffered a major stroke in November 1956. She lay paralyzed and speechless for more than 8 years. During that sad time we saw in Mother a courage and strength which sustained us all. Her mind remained alert, she was always cheerful; and though we shed many tears together and separately, she was an inspiration to all who came in contact with her.
> Mother's illness took a terrible toll on Daddy who was 9 years her senior. Those were such sad and lonely years for him.[474]"

Sharp.[474] She died on 3 July 1980 in Manhattan, Kansas, USA, at age 67 of cancer.[120] She was buried at the Dreamland Cemetery in Canyon, Randall, Texas, USA.

From Keith's article:

> "We were in the Alexander School district, but we regularly attended Sunday School and Church at Rock Creek.
>
> Because of the flu epidemic I was not allowed to start to school in 1918. I can remember Uncle Charlie, who was by this time a well qualified medical doctor, bringing the mail and other necessities and putting them out at the gate. My parents conversed with him at a distance, and we escaped the flu that year. The next year we all had the flu. I remember how sick we all were, but we all lived.
>
> I started to school in 1919 at Alexander in the second grade. I had no problems in missing the first grade, for my mother had seen to it that I was well taught.
>
> In 1921 my mother was hired to teach the Alexander School.
> In December 1924 our parents moved to Canyon where we children might be able to get an education. With that move my happy and innocent childhood ended. I was thrust into a completely new and different world. I graduated from Canyon High School in 1929 and immediately started to college. I had been editor of the high school paper the last two years, and > my love was languages and journalism. Knowing there was not going to be any way I could finance 4 years of college in those depression years, I was advised to major in primary education and get a permanent certificate to teach school. In 1931 I went to the Johnson School in the Bauer community to teach....

> When I came there to teach, he [Clarence (39)] lost no time in getting to know the new teacher, and we were soon dating. We were married in my parents' home on November 11, 1932 by the Reverend John R. Sharp, the same minister who had married my parents."

The college at the time was West Texas State Teachers College. (Note: The name started as West Texas Normal College in 1909, was changed to West Texas State Teachers College (1923–1949), West Texas State College (1949–1963), West Texas State University (1963–1990), and in 1990 to West Texas A&M, part of the Texas A&M University System.).[474] From Keith's article

> For the next 8 years we lived on a section of land belonging to Grandpa Bauer....
> We were looking for land where we could irrigate and have a home of our own. Our search brought us to Swisher County. We purchased land, did extensive work on the house, and moved on November 2, 1940....Those were such happy years for us marred only by the sadness of World War II. There are no happier years than those when your children are growing up and lifelong friendships are formed. In 1947 we moved into our first new home....We sold the farm to D. S. Burelsmith in 1955 and moved into Tulia where we built another new home.
>
> The day after [Vance's] graduation we came to Bentonville, Arkansas and bought the property... It may never again be my privilege to live in Texas. Arkansas has been good to us, we love it here. I was born a Texan, and I will die a Texan! My heart remains in Swisher Co., for there I spent the happiest years of my life.[474]

>
> Their mission was to transport a jeep, anti-tank ammunition, and other equipment to Ste-Mère-Eglise, about 5 miles inland from Utah Beach.
> In an investigation (Missing Air Crew Report #10890), the tow pilots believed Carey Brewster's glider was either "...released or shot off about 16 miles from the landing zone. This meant that the glider landed in enemy territory with few, if any, friendly troops in the vicinity."

He died in combat on 6 June 1944 at Lanquetot, Le Vrétot, Bricquebec, Normandy, France, at age 26.[525] He was first buried in the St. James temporary cemetery then moved to Plot D, Row 22, Grave 36 of the Normandy American Cemetery and Memorial in St Laurent-Colleville, France.

He moved to Dalhart, Texas for glider pilot training where he met Kate, who was teaching Home Economics at the Dalhart High School.[523] First Lieutenant Howard Carey Brewster (53) and Kate Eileen Donnell (38) were moved from base to base - from Sedalia, Missouri to Fort Wayne, Indiana, back to Sedalia, then to Fort Pope, North Carolina, then back to Fort Wayne. So moving was no chore.[523]" On their first wedding anniversary, he deployed to England and was attached to the 82nd Airborne Division for further training.[523]

First Lieutenant Howard Carey Brewster (53) was a glider pilot with the 437th Troop Carrier Group of the 9th Air Force and was the operations officer for the 84th and 86th Squadrons.

The account of his final mission has been researched at Fold 3 at Ancestry.com and is summarized below:

> On D-Day, June 6, 1944 during Mission Detroit, Mission #28 his CG4 Waco-type glider ... departed Ramsbury, United Kingdom, being towed by C47-A flown by pilots Lt Myers and Lt Frederick.
>
> His co-pilot was Flight Officer Leslie A. Reynolds also of the 84th Troop Carrier Squadron. The passengers were Sgt. Raynor M. Wilson and Pvt. Lecil A Drummond, both of the 80th Anti-aircraft Battalion.
>
> Their mission was to transport a jeep, anti-tank ammunition, and other equipment to Ste-Mère-Eglise, about 5 miles inland from Utah Beach.
>
> In an investigation (Missing Air Crew Report #10890), the tow pilots believed Carey Brewster's glider was either "...released or shot off about 16 miles from the landing zone. This meant that the glider landed in enemy territory with few, if any, friendly troops in the vicinity."
> The report also states that the landing glider struck the top of an apple tree at the landing, killing the pilot. The copilot was hospitalized and eventually returned to England with amnesia. The enlisted men were both killed in combat within 10 days of D-Day.[525]

Historically, the chief of Clan Cunningham held the title of Earl of Glencairn. However, in modern times the chief of the clan is Cunningham of Corsehill. ...
> Fredric van Bassen stated that in the year 1059, King Malcolm rewarded Malcolm, son of Freskin with the Thanedom of Cunninghame. The progenitor of the family known as Cunningham was Warnebald, who received a grant for the land of the Manor Cunningham between 1135 and 1140. The story that related to King Malcolm says that the son of Friskin, obtained the lands from Malcolm III of Scotland after he had sheltered him under hay in a barn and this is said to have given rise to the family's coat of arms which is of a shake-fork, as well as the motto "Over Fork Over". Sir George Mackenzie states that the coat of arms allude to the office of Master of the King's Stables.[554]"

So how did Daniel, this line's progenitor, get to Ireland. That's not at all clear despite a significant immigration of both British and Scottish settlers into Ireland, some of it pushed by the creation of the Plantations.

And there is some argument that there are original Irish Cunninghams who emigrated to Scotland. "The Cunningham perch of south-west Scotland is sometimes thought to have originated in Gaelic Ireland." ...

Later, it is clear that there were a significant number of Scottish immigrants in Ireland. "Of the 50 Scottish undertakers of the Ulster plantation, five were named Cunningham, all of whom were granted lands in Co Donegal.[553] The Daniel Cunningham Legend has been documented in several places and was cited in Cliff Cunningham's work.[555] The following is by the unknown author of "Pioneer Life on the Bay of Quinte". I have added a few of my own notes at the end.

> "Many years ago a small boy, perhaps about twelve years old, was standing on the quay side of the River Liffy, in Dublin, watching the dock hands and sailors load cargo on the lighters which were to convey it out to the vessels lying at anchor in mid-channel. One of the sailors picked up the boy and took him on the lighter, which put off for the ship's side. The little fellow, whose name was Daniel Cunningham, thought the trip a delight, and was in great glee when the man suggested his going on board. When discovered by some of the crew, Daniel was not unnaturally regarded by the captain as a stowaway; and stowaways were of frequent [occurrence] and had to be dealt with after a summary fashion. The captain compromised matters in a way that was quite the custom in those days. He decided that to pay the passage money he would sell the boy as an apprentice, when the ship reached New York. A Friend [Member of the Society of Friends; Quaker] stood by and saw the boy while the sale progressed. He conceived a liking for his handsome features and well-bred bearing and felt great pity for his distressed condition. He bid, and fortunately for Daniel, bid the highest price.
> Daniel, at first, was placed among the other servants, but his superior nature and breeding could not but be recognized by the good Friend and his wife. They decided to take him from the kitchen and rear him with their own family, which consisted of an only daughter.
>
> When Daniel was received at the board of his master and friend, he began the romance of his life. Having received a good education and being endowed with a good brain and bright mind, he won, not the affections alone, but the confidence of his master, and thrived prosperously in business, being made a partner in the firm. If his progress in the well won esteem of his master was great, his hold on the affections of his master's daughter proved strong enough for her to become his wife.

...He was one of the survivors of the massacre at Fort Henry...

Some few years later, the Revolutionary War (the War of Independence) broke out, and Daniel was pressed to take up arms. But no matter what threat, what deprivation he suffered, he would not carry the "instruments of war". His aggressors might tie and lash the arms to his body, but he would not voluntarily carry them; and under no consideration could he be made to use them.

Seeing that these endeavours were utterly hopeless, it was thought that by placing him on board a man-o'-war he could be compelled to participate actively in some form of warfare. But he does not seem, even then, to have violated his principles, for after sailing for some time along then American coast he was imprisoned in the [jail] at Richmond Virginia, where he died after a couple years confinement.

We aren't told what year Daniel Cunningham was born...or what year he came to America. In fact we can't corroborate much of this story – it must be based on family traditions handed down and collected by whoever wrote or edited "Pioneer Life on the Bay of Quinte."

The last two paragraphs above are rather disjointed, as though perhaps someone was telling the story and kept remembering things they should have mentioned earlier, while someone else was writing it down verbatim.

The only way I can make sense of it is to rearrange the events thus – the dates are mostly firm:

Daniel Cunningham had been a survivor at Fort Henry in 1757. (But what was a pacifist Quaker doing in the fort?). ... In the War of Independence (1775-1783) Daniel refused to fight (on the American side), was placed on board a warship, still refused and eventually died in [jail] in Richmond, Virginia."

Alton Donnell added: The Massacre at Fort William Henry (near Lake George, New York) occurred during the French and Indian Wars (against the British) in 1757. The French with their Indian allies lay siege to the fort and forced the surrender of the British force and their colonial militia allies. As the British were marching away, the Indians, not happy with the French terms of surrender, attacked the British. The Indians brutally killed and scalped many of the British soldiers and then took hundreds of prisoners to Canada where they were held for ransom. Total killed was about 185. It appears likely that Daniel was supporting the English or a Colonial militia.

After the death of his first wife, Daniel and Abigail Richmond (577) were married in the Rombout Presbyterian church after she was expelled from the Quakers. As such, his connections to the Quakers and pacifism must be questioned.

Some speculation. If Daniel was providing supplies to the British in 1757, it would not be surprising that he was doing the same during the American Revolution twenty years later. In the Fall of 1777, Colonial forces and British forces (allied with German and Quebec forces) clashed at Saratoga. The British surrendered and with their Allies formed the "Convention Army" which were to be returned to Europe. The Colonial Congress revoked the convention and imprisoned the Convention Army. Many were sent to the Albemarle Barrack in Virginia. There are no records that I could find of Daniel Cunningham as a prisoner in Virginia.

There is no evidence that Daniel emigrated to Canada with the rest of his family. Daniel's last child was born before the Battle of Saratoga which supports the theory that he died in prison. There is no mention of Daniel or Abigail in the West Lake Quaker reports, although their son and daughters appear prominently.[556,552]

According to The Richmond Family Daniel Cunningham (576) and Abigail Richmond (577) emigrated to Canada in 1795 from Dutchess, New York, USA. This contradicts the claim that Daniel died in Richmond, Virginia. However, if he had survived prison, it's doubtful that he would have waited more than 10 years to move to Canada. The date in the source is the same year that his son William emigrated, so the author may have just assumed Daniel emigrated with them.[557]

He was buried at Albert Street Cemetery in Arnprior, Renfrew, Ontario, Canada. In Section C, C-192, plot 973.[595]

He was educated circa 1934 at Taber Business College. When he enlisted in the Canadian Army in 1939, he was working as a "boxboard tyer."

Howard Arthur Cunningham (10) was an accomplished athlete and was inducted into the Cornwall, Ontario Sports Hall of Fame for boxing in 1974. While at high school, in track and field, he won both junior and senior championships; he also won six events for the Stormont Dundas & Glengarry Highlanders at Barriefield Camp in 1938 and rounded out the day by competing in both boxing and wrestling matches. Howard played both junior and senior hockey in his hometown of Arnprior, senior hockey in Temiskaming and for the Cornwall Canadians. In football, he played half-back for junior and senior teams and attended the Ottawa Rough Riders training camp in 1937; he was offered a playing contract, but the salary in those days was poor, so he turned it down.

He won the "catch weight" boxing title and the Canadian Golden Gloves Championship in Montreal in the Light-Heavyweight Division in 1940. He signed up early in WWII and in 1940 was Royal Canadian Army Heavyweight Champ. His record as an amateur was 41 wins and only 2 losses. Boxing professionally, he won 6 matches and suffered only 2 defeats. He has the distinction very few boxers enjoy in the fact that he was never knocked out. His career as a boxer ended in 1943 because of a fractured elbow while in Europe.[596]

Based on his different papers, and with the help of AI, the following summarizes his military service:

> He enlisted in 1939, initially through the Non-Permanent Active Militia (NPAM) with either the Lanark and Renfrew Regiment or the Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry Highlanders, he transferred to the Royal Canadian Artillery (RCA) and trained as a gunner. He joined during the mobilization of the 1st Medium Battery, RCA, based out of the Craig Street Armoury in Montreal.
>
> He later served with the 7th Field Battery, RCA, and in 1943, his military specialty was changed from Bombardier to Military Police. This reassignment likely placed him in a provost or field security role, essential for discipline, traffic control, and prisoner-of-war processing during Canadian operations in Europe.
>
> Despite his MP role, he remained on RCA strength and was not formally transferred to the Canadian Provost Corps. On 25 September 1944, he landed at Bény-sur-Mer, France, as part of operations under II Canadian Corps. Following the landing, his unit advanced to Cap Gris-Nez during the campaign to liberate the Channel coast.
>
> He was discharged in August 1945 with the rank of Lance Bombardier, Royal Canadian Artillery.
> He remained active in postwar veteran associations, including participation in reunions of the 1st Heavy Anti-Aircraft Battery Association in the 1980s.

On 27 December 1944, at Howeard and Pat's wedding reception, the Cockney "Kid Adkins," a pro boxer (without a sterling record) and a gambler, and his wife "Dolly" passed the hat for the newlyweds. "Kid Adkins" and Howard likely knew each other through boxing. The dances were the "Lambeth Walk" and the Cockney classic "Knees Up Mother Brown."

Howard Arthur Cunningham (10) and Winifred Margaret Reed (11) moved to Cornwall, Ontario, Canada circa September 1945.

After the war, he was a paper researcher at the DOMTAR Cornwall plant, and in 1959 was the President of the Cornwall Chess Club.[597]

Howard Arthur Cunningham (10) was a bridge Life Master, and bridge columnist, director, and teacher. He was best known for teaching and directing bridge. He became a Life Master of bridge in 1975 eventually reaching the level of Silver Life Master. He was a founding member of the first Cornwall District Bridge Club and was president for four years. He ran the Community Bridge Club for four years. He was the only Master Rank teacher with the American Contract Bridge League (ACBL) in Cornwall. He wrote the “Bridge Corner” for the Standard Freeholder for more than twenty years. He taught bridge lessons for the Cornwall Senior Citizen Center and was President of the Cornwall Senior Citizen Club from 1991 until he became ill in October 1992.

Other achievements include honorary member of the International Bridge Press Association and Goodwill Committee of the ACBL. He was a life member of the Royal Canadian Legion and the Masonic Order. For years he was the DOMTAR Santa Claus.
